Hi Katy
Following our phone discussion, it's really not clear to me why the second last entry "State of necessity" on the attached file which is part of the Oxford Bibliographies in International Law series is not counted. It was an awful lot of work, consisting in summaries of the vast literature, cases and incidents on the topic, both contemporary and historical. It was double blind peer reviewed. On Oxford Bibliographies see: http://ukcatalogue.oup.com/product/9780199796953.do andhttp://www.oxfordbibliographies.com/
For my entry see: http://www.oxfordbibliographies.com/view/document/obo-9780199796953/obo-9780199796953-0025.xml?rskey=3lOOBW&result=69

Dear Ms Heathcote

For your action by 30th June.

The University is currently preparing for the Excellence in Research for Australia (ERA) 2015 submission and we need to ensure that we have a complete record of your research outputs from 2008 to 2013.

Please check the attached list of your research outputs recorded in ARIES for completeness and accuracy. Contact your Publication Collection Officer (PCO) by the 30th June to confirm the list and notify your PCO of any traditional research outputs (Books, Book Chapters, Conference Papers or Journal Articles) that are missing or require correction. A list of PCOs can be found here:
