USE OF THESES

This copy is supplied for purposes of private study and research only.
Passages from the thesis may not be copied or closely paraphrased without the written consent of the author.

Cautionary Note

This thesis contains names of actual people who may have subsequently died. Care must be taken not to mention these names to Marrangu people because this would cause distress. Similar care must be taken with photographs of people. Details of Marrangu ceremonies contained in this thesis could cause concern to Marrangu people if revealed in public contexts.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Over a two year period while writing this thesis I was financially supported by a scholarship from the Australian National University. The Faculty of Arts, Australian National University, also provided fieldwork funds. In Darwin the North Australia Research Unit assisted with accomodation and provided invaluable research support. At N.A.R.U I especially thank Jann King and Colleen Pine. Consultations with the Donald Thomson and Northern Australian Collections at the Museum of Victoria, Melbourne, were highly rewarding thanks to Lindy Allen.

While researching this thesis I benefitted greatly from correspondence with other fieldworkers - Ad Borsboom, Greg Anderson and Margaret Clunies Ross - all of whom I thank sincerely. Indeed, this thesis is indebted to Borsboom's careful study of Marrangu people, especially in Maradjiri (1978). At A.N.U my supervisor, Ian Keen, tirelessly ploughed through earlier drafts and offered precise and penetrating comments. His correspondence while in the field provided immeasurable encouragement. I am grateful for his interest and supervision.

I thank Ingrid Slotte and Fiona Magowan who read and commented on earlier drafts. Doreen Bowdrey and Margaret Burns, my roommates, were always supportive and a joy to work with. Debbie Mcgrath and Helen Nicoll showed enormous tolerance of my unceasing demands. Lynn Lobo spent many hours typing my manuscript and her encouragement and patient labour has in large measure made this work possible.

At Ramingining Ron and Cynthia Lawler offered me warm hospitality and day to day assistance, which I greatly appreciated. Djon and Belinda Scott Mundine were always ready to stop for a cuppa and a chat and responded to my inexperienced questions with a wealth of information and acumen. I am grateful to Djon also for information regarding the Djaware Dreaming Story.

My Djinang hosts at Galawdjapin and Gattji tolerated my intrusiveness with patience and good humour for six months in 1989-90. Heartfelt thanks go to everyone, children and adults at Galawdjapin and Gattji who allowed me to share their home. I hope this thesis contributes in a small way to an understanding of their culture. I especially thank Ray Munyal, Dick Miwirri, Bridgette Gorrupudu and Freddie Yuwalarra. This work is dedicated to Robert Gurrall and Margaret Mayal, who under incredibly difficult circumstances did everything and more to teach me their culture.
