PREFACE

This book evolved over several years while we were teaching the Samoan language at the Australian Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade in Canberra. We wish to thank all our enthusiastic and patient students, in particular David Hardy, David and Sue Hegarty, Adam Lees and Kylie Oakes, who encouraged us to start this book and contributed with their numerous questions and comments. Our thanks also go to Moina Simcock and David Butler from the New Zealand High Commission in Apia, Western Samoa, who tested an earlier version for its suitability for self-instruction. They uncovered many inconsistencies and also made us change our linguistic jargon into what we hope is a more readable language. Thanks are also due to the two anonymous reviewers who helped to improve this book with their professional advice, and to Tatjana Thiele and Ursula Gehrman from the Linguistic Department of the University of Kiel, who thoroughly checked and typed the vocabularies. Finally, we would like to thank the staff of Pacific Linguistics, in particular Becky Quick, Jeanette Coombes and Pam Rosser, for their painstaking efforts in preparing this book for publication – Fa'amālō fa'afetai.

Work on this book was supported by three grants from the Australian Research Council which enabled La'i to travel to Western Samoa in 1990, 1992 and 1993 and do fieldwork on Samoan phraseology for a total of 13 weeks.

LESSON 1

1.1 THE PRONUNCIATION OF SAMOAN WORDS

The Samoan alphabet has five vowels and 13 consonants.

a e i o u
f g l m n p s t v
h k r
' (glottal stop)

The vowels can be short or long. There are many words which are only distinguished by the length of one of their vowels. Long vowels can be marked by a macron (a dash above the vowel): ā ē ī ō ū

- a [a] is similar to the vowel in Standard English but
- ā [a:] is similar to a in Standard English father
- e [e] is similar to e in Standard English bet, wet
- ē [e:] is similar to é in French l'été
- i [i] is similar to e in Standard English enough
- ī [i:] is similar to ee in Standard English peel
- o [o] is similar to o in Standard English hot, pot
- ō [o:] is similar to eau in French l'eau
- u [u] is similar to oo in Standard English foot
- ū [u:] is similar to oo in Standard English pool

fulu	wash, clean	fulū	influenza, cold
tama	child, boy	tamā	father
tala	story	tālā	dollar

If the last syllable is short, the stress falls on the second last syllable. If it is long, the last syllable carries the stress: fūlu, fulū, Tāvīta ‘David’.

Except for g, the consonants are more or less pronounced like their English counterparts. The pronunciation of g is similar to that of ng in words like song. Note that it can also occur at the beginning of the word:

2 LESSON 1

gata	snake
gutu	mouth

The consonants h, k, r are practically only found in loanwords:

Haikomisi	High Commission
Haikomesina	High Commissioner
Kirisimasi, Kilisimasi	Christmas
sikareti, sikaleti	cigarettes

Since these consonants did not originally belong to the Samoan language, many people do not pronounce h, and r is often replaced by l.

The last consonant is the so-called glottal stop. This consonant is not found in Standard English. You pronounce it by interrupting the airstream coming out of your lungs. Try to pronounce it this way: say hhhhh and then cough a bit: hhh 'hhh 'hhh. The sound you make when coughing is the glottal stop. Now say aaaa and again interrupt yourself by little coughs: aaa'aaa'aaa.¹ Many Samoan words differ only in the presence or absence of the glottal stop:

pau	(be) all
pa'u	tyre
pāū	(be) eerie
pa'ū	fall

All syllables consist either of a vowel, or a consonant and a vowel. All words end in a vowel. Therefore, Samoans often add vowels in borrowed words.

Iōsef-a	Joseph
K-i-ri-s-i-mas-i	Christmas

Vowels and consonants which do not exist in Samoan (e.g. b, d, g) are replaced by their nearest counterpart (e.g. p, t, k).

Tāvita	David
kōvana	governor
Makerita	Margaret
Lafumeni	Rothmans

A word can contain sequences of two or more vowels:

taeao	morning, tomorrow
aoauli	midday, noon
sāuā	cruel
uati	watch, clock

¹ It is used, however, in colloquial English in such expressions as O'o, here he comes, or a'a 'No'.

Make sure that you hear and pronounce the difference between au and ao, and ai and ae.

vai	water
vae	leg, foot
'au	team
ao	day, daylight, cloud

The Samoan spelling is not as strictly standardised as the English spelling. There is a great deal of variation in what is written as one or more than one words, and vowel length and glottal stops are only sporadically indicated in Samoan books and newspapers.

1.2 THE ‘GOOD’ AND THE ‘BAD’ LANGUAGE

There are two varieties of the Samoan language: 'o le tautala lelei ‘the good language’ and 'o le tautala leaga ‘the bad language’. The alphabet and sound system given above in §1.1. is that of the tautala lelei. The tautala leaga differs from the tautala lelei in that all t’s are replaced by k, and all n’s are replaced by g pronounced like ng in song. No r’s are found in the tautala leaga. Thus these two varieties sound very different.

T → K

tala	kala	story
tālā	kālā	dollar
tupe	kupe	money

N → G

mānaia	māgaia	good, nice
nofo	gofo	stay, sit
naifi	gaifi	knife

T, N, and R/L

Kirisimasi	Kilisimasi	K, G, and L	Christmas
sikareti	sikaleti	sikaleki	cigarette
reitiō	leitiō	leikiō	radio
nūmera	nūmela	gūmela	number

The tautala lelei and the tautala leaga, also called the T-language and the K-language, are used in different social contexts.

tautala lelei /T-language	tautala leaga /K-language
Church, prayers	everyday conversations among Samoans school	in the family
radio broadcasts	speeches in the village council

all written language songs, poetry
 speeches in the parliament

Most Samoans speak the T-language to foreigners and expect foreigners, if they know Samoan, to speak the T-language.

1.3 GREETINGS, FAREWELLS AND OTHER IMPORTANT, EVERYDAY PHRASES

Fa'amolemole. Please.

Fa'afetai. Thank you.

Note that the Samoan people do not say ‘thank you’ as often as English speaking people. This is not because they are impolite (Samoans are very polite people), but because they have different conventions.

Tālofa. Hello.

Tālofa lava. Hello (reply to tālofa).

Mālō. Hi.

Soifua. Good health.

'O ā mai 'oe? How are you?
 what you

Manuia fa'afetai. Fine, thank you.
 fine thanks

Po 'o fa'apēfea mai 'oe? How are you?
 how you

'O lo'o manuia lava fa'afetai. Doing very well, thank you.
 well very thanks

'Ae ā 'oe? And you?
 but what you

Fa'apēnā fo'i. Fine too.
 like that too

Instead of these greetings people also ask questions like the following when they meet:

'O fea 'e te alu i ai? Where are you going?
 where you go to

² At this stage an explanation of all grammatical constructions would be unnecessarily confusing for the language learner. Therefore, we give you a word by word translation. Note that at the end of questions the voice is lowered.

'Ou te alu i le gāluega.	I am going to work.
I go to the work

'Ua 'e mānava?
you finished.work

'Ioe.
yes

When someone is ill or has a difficult time, you can express your sympathy by Tālofa e 'I feel very sorry for you.'

'E te ma'i?	Are you sick?
'I.	Yes. (common short form of 'ioe)
Tālofa e.	Poor (thing).

Surprise is expressed by 'oka' or 'oka'oka', which is always, even in the T-language, pronounced with a k.

'Oka!	Gosh!
'Oka 'oka!	How extraordinary!

When you want to go past a person, lower your body and say

Tulou. Excuse me.

The most common farewell formula is:

Tōfā.	Good bye.
Tōfā soifua.	Good bye (the reply to tōfā).
Fā.	Good bye (in short form).
Fā soifua.	Good bye (reply to fā).

If you go for a longer trip, you might hear Manuia le malaga! 'Have a nice trip!' The answer to this farewell wish is Manuia le fa'amuli! which approximately means 'Have a nice staying back home'. You will also hear expressions which seem to be modelled after English ones as for instance:

Toe feiloa'i. See you again.
again see.each.other

Manuia le pō. Good night.
good the night

'Ia manuia le aso. Have a nice day.
nice the day

1.4 EXERCISES

EXERCISE 1: Read.

E sesē le tali.	The answer is wrong.
is wrong the answer
Fōnō le tama.	Call the boy.
call the boy
Pau lea.	This is all.
all this
'Ua pā le pa'u o le pasi.	The bus has a flat tyre. (lit. The tyre of the bus has exploded.)
has exploded the tyre of the bus
Sau taeao. Sau i le aoauli.	Come tomorrow. Come at noon.
come tomorrow come at the noon.

EXERCISE 2

The Samoans like to adjust all foreign words and names to the sound system of their language. From which English names and other words are the following Samoan words derived?

1. Niu Sila	'Ausetālia	Sini	'Aukilani	Saina
2. konetineta	Leipa Pati	polokalame	iunivesitē	kalapu
3. līpoti	'aisakulimi	komipiuta	Kuinisilani	'ovasiteia
4. kāpoti	louni	tiliva	sipuni	naifi

EXERCISE 3

Try to Samoanise the following English words so that they only contain Samoan sounds (letters) and have a Samoan syllable structure:

1. radio	rugby	apply	hamburger
2. champion	committee	office	style
3. company	January	March	newspaper
4. telephone	shift	check	science

EXERCISE 4: Change to tautala leaga (K-language).

1. 'O a'u 'o Tāvita.	I am David.
2. Tālofa Malia.	Hello Mary.
3. Fa'afetai.	Thank you.
4. Tōfā soifua.	Good bye.
5. Tulou!	Excuse me!

6. Tolu tālā. Three dollars.
7. Manua le Kirisimasi. Merry Christmas.
8. Mānaia tele. Very nice.

LESSON 2

2.1 ‘DANCE!’ – VERB PHRASES, NOUN PHRASES

Siva!	Dance!
Sisiva! ¹	Dance! (said to more than one person)
Sā siva le teine. ²	The girl danced.
Sā siva le tama. ³	The boy danced.
Sā sisiva tama.	The boys danced.
Sā sisiva tamaiti. ⁴	The children danced.

(1) Verbs and verb phrases

In commands you use the bare verb, e.g. Siva! ‘Dance!’ In other sentences, when you talk about the past, the present or the future, the verb is combined with a little word which indicates the time, e.g. sā indicating the past. These words are called tense particles. The tense particle and the verb form the verb phrase, i.e. sā siva ‘danced’ is a verb phrase. Many verbs have a different form for the plural, e.g. siva (sg.), sisiva (pl.). In simple verbal sentences like the ones above, the verb phrase comes first.

(2) Nouns and noun phrases

In the singular the noun has the article le, in the plural the noun has no article, e.g. le tama ‘the boy’, tama ‘the boys’. The noun and its article form a noun phrase, e.g. le teine ‘the girl’. In the plural the noun phrase consists of the noun only, e.g. teine ‘the girls’.

Sā alu le teine. ⁵	The girl went.	Sā ō teine.	The girls went.
Sā sau le teine. ⁶	The girl came.	Sā ō mai teine.	The girls came.
Sā moe le pepe. ⁷	The baby slept.	Sā momoe pepe.	The babies slept.

² sā expresses that something happened in the past; le teine ‘the girl’

³ le tama ‘the boy’; tama ‘the boys’ (note that there is no le)

⁴ tamaiti ‘the children’

⁵ alu v.i. (pl. ō), go

⁶ sau v.i. (pl. ō mai), come; mai dir., here to the place where we are now

⁷ moe v.i. (pl. momoe), sleep; pepe n., baby

*Sā savali le tama.*⁸ The boy walked.
*Sā nofo le tama.*⁹ The boy stayed.

Sā sāvavali tama. The boys walked.
Sā nonofo tama. The boys stayed.

2.2 ‘IN’ AND ‘TO’ – PREPOSITIONS

*Sā alu le teine i Apia.*¹⁰

Sā nofo le teine i le fale.

*Sau i 'ī!*¹¹

*Alu i fafo!*¹²

Nofo i le fale!

*Nofo i lalo!*¹³

The girl went to Apia.

The girl stayed in the house.

Come here!

Go outside!

Stay in the house! Stay home!

Sit down!

Noun phrases can be preceded by a preposition. One of the most important prepositions is the locative preposition i, ‘in, at, on, to’. At the beginning of a sentence and in slow speech, i is often preceded by a glottal stop.

2.3 ‘WHAT’S YOUR NAME?’

'Ole ā?

What?

'Oai?

Who?

'Ole teine.

The girl.

'O Pita.

Peter.

'O a'u.

I.

'O 'oe.

You (sg.).

If a sentence is formed only by one noun phrase, this noun phrase is introduced by 'o, e.g. 'O a'u. ‘It’s I’. This little word 'o has no equivalent in English. The glottal stop is often dropped when 'o occurs within the sentence. We will consistently write the glottal stop in order to distinguish 'o from the preposition o ‘of’ (cf. §2.5.), although both often sound the same and Samoans do not distinguish them in their writings. The question word (interrogative pronoun) ā ‘what’ takes the article le, but ai ‘who’ does not. Ai ‘who’ behaves like a proper name of persons:

'O ai lou igoa?
 who your name

What’s your name?

⁸ savali v.i. (pl. sāvavali), walk

⁹ nofo v.i. (pl. nonofo), stay, sit, sit down

¹⁰ i prep., to, into, in, at

¹¹ 'ī l.n., here

¹² fafo l.n., outside

¹³ lalo l.n., down

'O lo'u igoa 'o Tiva.	My name is Tiva.
my name Tiva
'O ai le tagata lea?	Who is this person?
who the person this
'O lo'u tinā lea.	This is my mother.
my mother this
'O le ā le mea lea?	What is this?
the what the thing this
'O fea le falemeli? ¹⁴	Where is the post office?
where the post.office

Samoan does not have a word for 'to be'. A sentence can consist of two noun phrases; one functioning as the subject (what you talk about) and the other one functioning as its predicate (the new information you give about the subject).

SUBJECT	PREDICATE
'O lo'u igoa	'o Simi.	My name is Jimmy.
'O lo'u tinā	'o Sina. ¹⁵	My mother is Sina.
'O lo'u tamā	'o Seu. ¹⁶	My father is Seu.

If the subject comes first, both the subject and the predicate are marked by 'o. If the predicate comes first only the predicate takes 'o, but not the subject.

PREDICATE	SUBJECT
'O ai	le tagata lea?	Who is this person?
'O lo'u tinā	lea.	This is my mother.

2.4 USEFUL PHRASES: Tapena le fale! 'Tidy up the house!'

tapuni le faitoto'a	shut the door
tatala le fa'amalama	open the window
tapena le fale	tidy up the house
tapena le potu	tidy up the room
tapena le potu mālōlō ¹⁷	tidy up the sitting room
fufulu ipu	wash the dishes
solo ipu	dry the dishes
fai le tāgamea	do the laundry
tautau le tāgamea	hang the laundry

¹⁴ falemeli n., post office (< fale house, meli < English mail)

¹⁵ tinā n., mother

¹⁶ tamā n., father

¹⁷ potu mālōlō n., sitting room; mālōlō v.i., have a rest

salu le fola	sweep the floor
olo le puipui	scrub the wall
fufulu le kāpeta	wash the linoleum
fufulu le faleuila	wash the toilet
fufulu le potu tā'ele	wash the bathroom

2.5 CONVERSATION: Tālofa tama'ita'i ‘Greetings, Madam’

In this conversation we introduce the preposition o ‘of’ which does not have a glottal stop and must be distinguished from the untranslatable ‘o. More about o ‘of’ in §3.1. Some nouns may be used as forms of address without an article, e.g. Ali'i! ‘Sir!’.

Tālofa tama'ita'i. ¹⁸	Greetings, Madam.
Tālofa ali'i. ¹⁹	Greetings, Sir.
'O ai lou igoa?	What is your name? (lit. Who is your name?)
'O lo'u igoa 'o Telesia.	My name is Theresa.
'O ai 'oe?	Who are you?
'O a'u 'o Mika.	I am Mike.
'O ai lou tamā?	Who is your father?
'O lo'u tamā 'o Iōane.	My father is John.
'O fea lou nu'u? ²⁰	Where is your village?
'O lo'u nu'u 'o Malie.	My village is Malie.
'O ai le igoa o le tamā o lou tamā?	What is your grandfather's name? (lit. the name of the father of your father)
'O le tamā o lo'u tamā 'o Le'apai.	My grandfather is Le'apai.
'O le matai tāua o le nu'u. ²¹	He is an important chief of the village.

7. Where is the village of your mother?
8. What is your (maternal) grandmother's name?
9. My grandmother's name is Margaret.
10. Where is your mother?

LESSON 3

3.1 ‘JIMMY’S CAR’ – POSSESSIVE PREPOSITIONS

'o le ta'avale a Simi	Jimmy's car
'o le fale o Simi	Jimmy's house

There are two prepositions, a and o, which express that something belongs to someone.¹ We call them possessive prepositions. In general, the preposition a is used for things the owner can easily acquire and abandon again.

'o le naifi a le fafine	the woman's knife
'o le lēitiō a le ali'i	the chief's radio
'o le tusi a le teine	the girl's book

The preposition o is used for kin relationships, body parts, clothes, houses, emotions and feelings. On the whole, o expresses more permanent and close relationships, often relationships one cannot control.

'o le tinā o le teine	the girl's mother
'o le lima o le tama	the boy's hand
'o le 'ofu o le fafine	the woman's dress
'o le 'ofisa o le failautusi	the secretary's office
'o le fefe o le teine	the girl's fear
'o le alofa o le Atua	God's love

In the following examples the o expresses that something is a part of an object:

'o le pa'u o le pasi	the tyre of the bus
'o le faitoto'a o le fale	the door of the house
'o le fa'amalama o le fale	the window of the house

The distinction between a and o is most obvious when one and the same noun is combined with a and o. Compare:

'o le 'upu a le ali'i	the word of the chief
'o le 'upu o le pese	the word of the song

¹ After a pause or in slow speech a and o can be pronounced with a glottal stop ('a, 'o), but we consistently write them without the glottal stop (cf. §2.2. and §2.3. for similar conventions).

'o le fale o Seu
'o le fale a Seu

Seu's house (where he lives)
Seu's house (the house Seu has built)

The choice of a and o is not always predictable. Some words for kin relationships take a where one would expect o, and other words take o although they seem similar to words taking a. (No language is as regular as the language learner would like it to be.)

'o le fānau a Makerita
'o le solosolo o le teine
'o le fa'amalu o le fafine

Margaret's children (lit. the offspring of Margaret) the handkerchief of the girl
the umbrella of the woman

Kinship terms taking o:

'o le afafine o le tamāloa
'o le atali'i o le tamāloa
'o le uso o le tamāloa
'o le uso o le fafine
'o le tuafafine o le tamāloa
'o le tuagane o le fafine
'o le faletua o le faife'au²
'o le tausi o le tūlāfale³
'o le to'alua o le tamāloa
'o le to'alua o le fafine
'o le tamā o le teine
'o le tinā o le tama
'o le tei o Simi

the man's daughter the man's son
the man's brother the woman's sister the man's sister
the woman's brother the pastor's wife
the wife of the talking chief the man's wife
the woman's husband the girl's father
the boy's mother
Jimmy's younger brother or sister

Kinship terms taking a:

'o le fānau a Simi
'o le tama a Makerita
'o le teine a Makerita
'o le pepe a Makerita
'o le āvā a Simi
'o le tāne a Makerita
'o le tama a ai?

Jimmy's children
Margaret's child, Margaret's son
Margaret's daughter
Margaret's baby
Jimmy's wife
Margaret's husband whose child? (lit. the child of whom?)

Note that the Samoan kinship system differs from the English one in several respects:

² faletua n., wife (of a pastor or of a high chief)

³ tausi n., wife (of an orator, talking chief)

- There is no term for ‘grandmother’ and ‘grandfather’. You just say 'o le tamā o lo'u tamā ‘father of my father’, 'o le tinā o lo'u tamā ‘the mother of my father’, and so on.
- The word uso means ‘sibling of the same sex’, this means ‘brother’ when it is the uso of a man, and ‘sister’ when it is the uso of a woman. Uso is also used for cousins of the same sex.
- There are different terms for ‘son’ and ‘daughter’. When you speak of the son and the daughter of a man you say 'o le atali'i and 'o le afafine respectively, whereas a woman’s son and daughter are called tama tama and tama teine or just simply tama and teine.

3.2 'Upu fa'aaloalo ‘Respectful words’

When Samoan people speak to or about God, their chiefs, pastors and other honourable people, they often use so-called 'upu fa'aaloalo ‘respectful words’(henceforth abbreviated u.f.) in order to express their respect. These words replace the words of the ordinary language. In some cases different words are used when speaking to a high chief (h.ch.) or a talking chief (t.ch.). Most of these words refer to things, actions, or events which are very personal.

Ordinary language	Respectful language	Gloss
'ai	tausami (h.ch..), taumafa (t.ch.)	eat
fale	maota (h.ch.) laoa (t.ch.)	house
faife'au	fa'afeagaiga	pastor
igoa	sufa	name
oti	maliu	die
tā'ele	fa'amālū , 'au'au	bathe
tūlāfale	fetalaiga	talking chief

3.3 ‘THE HIGH CHIEF SEUPULE’ – TITLES AND NAMES

When a noun is followed by a proper name, the proper name is marked by 'o, which is not to be confused with the possessive preposition o.

'o le fafine 'o Makerita	the woman Margaret
'o le faife'au 'o Ta'ape	the pastor Ta'ape
'o le ali'i 'o Seu	the high chief Seu
'o le matai 'o Tānoa	the chief Tanoa
'o le tūlāfale 'o Leota	the talking chief Leota

In respectful language you talk about honourable people as follows:

'o le afioga iā Seupule ⁴	the honourable high chief Seupule
'o le tōfā iā Leota ⁵	the honourable talking chief Leota
'o le susuga iā Ta'ape ⁶	the honourable Ta'ape
'o le susuga i le failautusi o le kabeneta ⁷	the honourable secretary of the cabinet
'o le susuga iā Malietoa	the honourable Malietoa
'o le susuga i le faiā'oga	the honourable teacher

When you talk directly to honourable people, you use these respectful titles with the possessive pronoun lau 'your'.

Lau afioga Seupule	Your honour Seupule
Lau tōfā Leota	Your honour Leota
Lau susuga Ta'ape	Your honour Ta'ape

3.4 USEFUL PHRASES: Afio mai lau afioga 'Welcome, your honour'

When a chief or pastor enters the house, you say:

Afio mai lau afioga Seupule.	Welcome, your honour Seupule.
Maliu mai lau tōfā (le fetalaiga) Nu'u.	Welcome, your honour (the talking chief) Nu'u.
Susū mai lau susuga (le fa'afeagaiga) Ta'ape.	Welcome, your honour (the pastor) Ta'ape.

When you are not sure how to greet a person, it is always appropriate to say:

Susū mai lau susuga.	Welcome, your honour.
Tālofa lau susuga.	How do you do, your honour?

3.5 CONVERSATION: 'O le tama a ai? 'Whose child?'

'Ei, 'o le tama lea a ai?	Hey, whose child is this?
'Ole tama a Sieni.	It is Jane's child.
'O ai Sieni?	Who is Jane?
'O Sieni 'o le afafine o le faife'au.	Jane is the daughter of the pastor.
'O ai le igoa o le faife'au?	What is the pastor's name?

⁵ tōfā n., only used for talking chiefs

⁷ i prep., (cf. §2.2); failautusi n., secretary

'O Setefano.

'O fea le nu'u o le faife'au?

Setefano.

Which village is the pastor from? (lit.
Where is the village of the pastor?)

EXERCISE 1: Substitute.

'O ai le tamā o Tāvita?

1. le tinā
2. le uso
3. le tuafafine
4. le atali'i
5. le afafine
6. 'O ai le tinā o Makerita
7. le tama a
8. le tama tama a
9. le tama teine a
10. le fānau a

Who is David's father?

- mother
- brother
- sister
- son
- daughter

Who is Margaret's mother?

- child
- son (boy)
- daughter (girl)
- children

EXERCISE 2: Substitute.

8. Fefilo is Elisabeth's sister.
9. Fa'a'uma is Joseph's brother.
10. Peter (Petelo) is Margaret's father.

EXERCISE 6: Translate.

1. Where is Seu's knife?
2. Where is Peter's umbrella?
3. Where is Sina's dress?
4. Where is Sina's radio?
5. Where is Fred's car?
6. Where is Margaret's shop?
7. Where is the village school?
8. Where is the doctor's house?

LESSON 4

4.1 PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE – TENSE PARTICLES

Sā siva le teine.	The girl danced.
'Ole'ā siva le teine.	The girl is going to dance.
'Olo'o siva le teine.	The girl is dancing.
'Ua alu le teine.	The girl has gone.

Samoan verbs do not inflect for tense like English verbs ('I'll go, I went, I am going, I have gone', etc.), but are combined with tense particles (cf. §2.1). There are 11 particles of this kind in Samoan.

4.2 THE PARTICLES sā AND na

Sā nofo le fafine i Apia.	The woman stayed in Apia.
Napā le pa'u. ¹	The tyre exploded.
Na pa'ū le tamaitiiti. ²	The child fell down.

There are two particles for the past, sā and na, which are more or less interchangeable, but na is preferred for events that happened unexpectedly and had a short duration.

4.3 THE PARTICLE e

The tense particle e indicates that something usually or always happens or that something will happen in the future. In the beginning of a sentence or after a pause e is often pronounced as 'e, but we consistently write e.

E alu le pasi i Apia.	The bus goes to Apia.
E ā'oga le teine i Apia. ³	The girl goes to school in Apia.

¹ pā v.i., (pl. pāpā) explode; pa'u n., skin, tyre

² pa'ū v.i., (pl. pa'u'ū) fall

³ ā'oga 1. n., school, 2. v.i., go to school

*E sau āfea lou tamā?*⁴
*E sau lo'u tamā i le vайасо lea.*⁵

When will your father come?
 My father will come next week.

With words denoting qualities, properties or states of being e refers to the present. Thus e lelei means that something is good.

E mānaia.	It is nice.
E lelei.	It's alright.
E leaga.	It's bad.
E mamaao.	It's far away.
E pisi tele le fafine. ⁶	The woman is very busy.
E sa'o 'oe. ⁷	You are right.

4.4 THE PARTICLE 'ua'

The particle 'ua' indicates that something has changed.

'Ua lelei.	It is good now (but was not good before).
'Ua ma'i le fafine. ⁸	The woman has become ill.
'Ua timu. ⁹	It is raining now (has started to rain).
'Ua alu le pasi.	The bus has gone.
'Ua sau lo'u tinā.	My mother has come.
'Ua tumu le pasi. ¹⁰	The bus is full now.
'Ua pā le pa'u.	The tyre has burst (and is flat now).
'Ua āmata le ā'oga. ¹¹	The school has started.
'Ua 'uma le lotu. ¹²	The service/prayer is finished.
'Ua pō. ¹³	It's already night now. (Said to a child who wants to play outside.)

Note that in fast speech 'ua alu 'has gone' is pronounced as [walu].

4 āfea interr., when (in the future)

5 vайасо n., week; lea dem., this, next

6 pisi v.i., (be) busy; tele adv., very

7 sa'o v.i., (be) straight, right; 'oe pron., you (sg.)

8 ma'i 1. v.i. (pl. mama'i), (be) ill, 2. n., illness; patient

9 timu v.i., rain, n., rain

10 tumu v.i., (be) full

11 āmata v.i. & v.t., start, begin

12 'uma v.i., be finished, be over; lotu 1. n., worship, prayer, church, 2. v., worship

13 pō 1. n., night, darkness, 2. v., be night, dark

4.5 THE PARTICLE 'olo'o AND ITS SHORT FORM 'o

- 'O lo'o siva le teine. The girl is dancing.
 '*O lo'o ma'i pe a le fafine.*¹⁴ The woman is still sick.

The particle 'olo'o (mostly written as two words 'o lo'o, o loo) indicates that an event or state of being is still going on, and thus is similar to the English progressive form. The short form 'o is used in questions.

- '*O ma'i ā lou tinā?*¹⁵ Is your mother still sick?
*Leai, 'ua manuia.*¹⁶ No, she is well.

In spoken language one often hears 'o lā e or lā e instead of 'o lo'o.

- 'O moe ā lou tamā? Is your father still sleeping?
 'Ioe, 'o lā e moe ā. Yes, he is still sleeping.
 'O fea le teine? Where is the girl?
Lā e moe. She is sleeping.

4.6 THE PARTICLE 'o le 'ā AND ITS SHORT FORM 'ā

- 'Ole 'ā malemo le tama! The child is going to drown!
 'Ole 'ā malaga le teine i Savai'i. The girl is going to travel to Savai'i.
 'Ā sau le tama? Is the boy in fact coming?

The particles 'ole 'ā (mostly written 'o le 'a or o le a) and 'ā express that something will definitely happen in the future or is thought of as going to happen immediately. The short form is mainly used in questions.

4.7 'GOOD' AND 'BAD'

Words expressing properties and qualities such as lelei 'good' and tumu 'full' behave exactly like verbs in the following Samoan sentences, whereas the corresponding English adjectives must be combined with a form of 'to be'.

- E lelei le mea'ai.*¹⁷ The food is good.
Eleaga le mea lea. This (thing) is bad.
*Elanumoana le pasi a Simi.*¹⁸ Jimmy's bus is blue.
E alu le pasi i Apia. The bus goes to Apia.

¹⁴ pea adv., still

¹⁵ ā this particle softens the questions and answers; here the speaker expresses that he or she does not expect the mother to be still sick

¹⁶ leai interj., no

¹⁷ mea'ai n., food (< mea n., thing)

¹⁸ lanumoana v.i., (be) blue (< lanu n., colour + moana n., ocean)

When they modify a noun, they follow the noun.

'o le mea'ai lelei	the good food
'o le pasi lanumoana	the blue bus
'o le 'ofu pa'epa'e ¹⁹	the white dress
'o le 'ofu fou ²⁰	the new dress
'o le 'ofu tuai ²¹	the old dress
'o le fafine lāpo'a ²²	the big woman
'o le fafine pa'e'e ²³	the thin woman
'o le tama pu'upu'u ²⁴	the short boy
'o le tama 'umi ²⁵	the tall boy
'o le taimi pu'upu'u	the short time
'o le taimi 'umi	the long time

For emphasis you can add lava ‘very’. Note that 'umi becomes 'umī.

E 'umī lava le 'aula. ²⁶	The road is very long.
'o le 'aula 'umī lava	a very long road

4.8 A RHYME: 'Oka'oka se tāgamea! 'Oh, what a big washing!'

'Oka 'oka se tāgamea, ²⁷	Oh, (what) a big washing,
Lavalava 'uma 'ua 'ele'elea ²⁸	All the clothes are dirty.
'Ofu piliti ma 'ofu felea ²⁹	Pleated dresses and flared dresses
'Ou te lē iloa pē 'aumai i fea ³⁰	I don't know where they're from.
Tālofa iā Tinā 'ua fai le masoā ³¹	Poor Mother has prepared the starch.

¹⁹ 'ofu n., dress; pa'epa'e v.i., (be) white

²⁰ fou v.i., (be) new

²¹ tuai v.i., (be) old

²² lāpo'a v.i., (be) big

²³ pa'e'e v.i., (be) thin

²⁴ pu'upu'u v.i., (be) short

²⁵ 'umi v.i., (be) long

²⁶ 'aula n., road

²⁷ se art., a; tāgamea n., washing

²⁸ lavalava n., clothes; 'uma v.i., (be) all; 'ele'elea v.i., (be) dirty (from earth, soil); 'ele'ele n., earth

²⁹ piliti v.i., (be) pleated; felea v.i., (be) flared

³¹ tālofa iā interj., have pity (on); fai v.t., do, make; masoā n., starch

'Ā mamago mea tatā.³²
'Āuli loa mo le Aso Sā³³

When the washing is dry,
(She) will iron it for Sunday.

5. 'O fea lou tinā? – Lā e fai le mea'ai.

LESSON 5

5.1 THE SPECIFIC AND NON-SPECIFIC, SINGULAR AND PLURAL ARTICLES

The articles distinguish between singular and plural and between specific (the) and non-specific (a/an) noun phrases:

le teine	(specific singular)	the girl, a (particular) girl
se teine	(non-specific singular)	a girl, any girl
teine	(specific plural)	the girls, (particular) girls, girls in general
ni teine	(non-specific plural)	some girls, any girls

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
Specific	letama the boy	tama the boys
Non-specific	se tama a boy	nitama some, any boys

Note that there is no article for the specific plural, it is unmarked as in these examples:

Sā nonofo teine i le fale.	The girls stayed in the house.
Sā sisiva tamaiti.	The children danced.
Sā faigaluega tama.	The boys worked.
E mālolosi tama Sāmoa.	Samoan boys (in general) are strong.

The non-specific articles are typically used in commands, questions and negative sentences of the following kinds:

'Aumai se niu!	Bring a coconut!
'Aumai ni niu!	Bring some coconuts!
E iai se mea 'ai a le teine? ¹	Is there any food for the girl?
E leai se niu.	There is no coconut. (lit. There isn't a coconut.)
E leai se mea.	There is nothing. (lit. There isn't anything .)

Apart from specific and non-specific articles Samoan has two others: si and sina. The plural of si is nai.

¹ iai v.i., exist, be there, often written as two words: i ai

'o si teine	(singular)	the little girl, the poor, dear girl
'o nai teine	(specific plural)	the poor, dear girls, a few girls
'o ni nai teine	(non-specific plural)	some poor, dear girls, a few girls
'o sina vai	(partitive)	a little water

'Ua ma'i si teine.

'Aumai sina vai.

The poor girl is sick.

Bring a little water.

5.2 Isi ‘someone, other’

Depending on the context, the word isi means ‘someone, somebody, anybody, some’ or ‘other’.

(1) se isi ‘someone, somebody, anybody; another’

Sau se isi fa'amolemole.	Somebody please come.
E leai se isi.	There is nobody.
'O iai se isi i le 'ōfisa? ²	Is there anybody in the office?
Na sau se isi iate a'u? ³	Did anyone come to (see) me?
'Ioe, na sau le tagata.	Yes, somebody came.
Leai, e le'i sau se isi. ⁴	No, no one came. (lit. Somebody did not come.)
E iai se isi 'o fia mana'o i se ipu kofe? ⁵	Is there anybody who would like a cup of coffee?
E te fia mana'o i se isi ipu kofe? ⁶	Do you want another cup of coffee?
Fa'amolemole'aumai se isi peni.	Please give me another pen.

(2) nisi (< ni + isi) ‘some, some others’

Fa'amolemole toe 'aumai nisi peni. ⁷	Please bring some more pens.
E toe ū mai nisi tagata i le fono? ⁸	Are there other people coming to the meeting?

² 'o TAM, short form of the tense particle 'olo'o

³ ia te, iate prep., variant of i ‘in, at, to’, used with pronouns; a'u pron., I, me

⁴ e le'i TAM + neg., did not

⁵ fia mana'o adv. + v., would like; kofe n., coffee

⁶ In a traditional Samoan household you wouldn't ask this question, but would just serve another cup of coffee.

⁷ toe adv., more, again

⁸ ū mai v.i. (pl.), come

*Na momoe nisi i le fale komiti?*⁹

*E leai se isi na moe ai.*¹⁰

Did any people sleep in the committee house?

Nobody slept there. (lit. There isn't anybody who slept there.)

(3) le isi 'the other (one)'

*Fa'aaogā le telefoni le a po'o le isi lale.*¹¹

E lē ola le telefoni lea.

Fa'aaogā le isi.

E lelei le isi?

'O fea le isi?

*I le isi itū lale.*¹²

Use this telephone or the other over there.

This telephone does not work.

Use the other one.

Is the other one alright?

Where is the other one?

On the other side over there.

(4) isi 'the others, the other...(people or things)'

*E fa'amuli le lo'omatua ma isi tamaiti,
'ae ō isi e faigaluega.*

E iai isi tagata e ō mai i le fono.

The old woman stayed behind with some children, but the others went to work.

There will be other people coming to the meeting.

(5) le isi...le isi 'one...the other', isi...isi 'some...others'

*Sā iai tamaiti e to'alua, e tauaso le isi,
'ae logonoa le isi.*¹³

E lelei isi, 'ae leaga isi.

There were two children, one was blind and the other was deaf.

Some are good, and/but some are bad.

5.3 SINGULAR AND PLURAL OF NOUNS AND VERBS

In §5.1 we saw that the difference between singular and plural noun phrases is expressed by articles. There are only nine nouns which have different singular and plural forms:

SINGULAR

1. 'o le tamaitiiti
2. 'o le teineitiiti
3. 'o le matua

PLURAL

- | | |
|--------------------|------------|
| 'o tamaiti | child, boy |
| 'o teineiti | girl |
| 'o mātua | parent |

⁹ moe v.i. (pl. momoe), sleep

¹⁰ ai anaph., there

¹¹ fa'aaogā v.t., use; lale dem., that over there

¹² itū n., side

¹³ e TAM, cf. §10.1; to'alua num., two

4. 'o le lo'omatua	'o lo'omātutua	old woman
5. 'o le 'olomatua	'o 'olomātutua	old woman
6. 'o le toe'a'ina	'o toe'a'i'ina	old man
7. 'o le tuafafine	'o tuafāfine	sister of a man
8. 'o le tamāloa	'o tamāloloa	man
9. 'o le taule'ale'a	'o taulele'a	untitled man

Many verbs have different singular and plural forms. The plural is often formed by reduplication of the second to the last syllable:

SINGULAR	PLURAL
'ai	'a'ai	eat
savali	sāsavali	walk
siva	sisiva	dance
alofa	ālolofa	love
galue	gālulue	work
nofo	nonofo	sit, stay
moe	momoe	sleep
moe 'umi	momoe 'u'umi	sleep long
lāpo'a	lāpopo'a	(be) large, fat
pa'e'e	pā'e'e'e	(be) slim, skinny
mālosi	mālolosi	(be) strong, healthy
ma'i	mama'i	(be) sick
poto	popoto	(be) clever
valea	vālelea	(be) stupid

But there are many other ways to form the plural. Look at these forms (and learn them):

SINGULAR	PLURAL
alu	ō	go
sau	ō mai	come la'itiiti	lāiti	(be) small pu'upu'u	pupu'u	(be) short uliali	uli	(be) black
'ena'ena	'e'ena	(be) brown
pa'epa'e	papa'e	(be) white
oti	feoti	die
inu	feinu	drink
tipi	tatipi	cut

Sāmomoe 'u'umi tamaiti.

The children slept a long time.

Sā ō taulele'a i uta i le fa'atoaga.¹⁴

The young men went inland to the plantation.

Sāgālulue tamāloloa i le togāfa'i.

The men worked in the banana plantation.

The plural tatipi ‘cut’ is used when the object (the things cut) is plural.

Tatipi lā'au.

Cut the trees.

Tatipi fa'amānifinifi talo.

Cut the taro into thin slices.

The plural form is used with some noun phrases which have the singular article, but are plural in meaning, e.g. 'o le 'āiga ‘the family’ and 'o le fānau ‘the offspring, children’.

'O lo'o mālolosi le 'āiga 'ātoa.¹⁵

The whole family is healthy.

'Ua mātutua le fānau a Mākerita.

Margaret’s children are grown up.

When these words follow a noun, they also agree with the noun in number:

'o le tama la'itiiti

the small boy

'o tama lāiti

the small boys

'o le tagata poto

the intelligent person

'o tagata popoto

the intelligent people

'o le tamaitiiti moe 'umi

the child who is sleeping a long time

'o tamaiti momoe 'u'umi

the children who are sleeping a long time

5.4 ‘FRONT, BACK, TOP, INSIDE, OUTSIDE’ – LOCAL NOUNS

Meanings like ‘under’, ‘in front of’ and ‘behind’ are expressed by nouns, which do not have an article and are combined with the possessive preposition o. In order to distinguish them from other nouns, we call them local nouns (l.n.).

Va'ai i luma o le fale.

Look in front of the house.

look in front of the house

Va'ai i tua o le fale.

Look behind the house.

Va'ai i totonu o le fale.

Look inside (of) the house.

Va'ai i fafo o le fale.

Look outside (of) the house.

Tu'u le 'ato i luga o le laulau.

Put the basket on (top of) the table.

Tu'u le 'ato i lalo o le laulau.

Put the basket under the table.

Nofo i 'autafa o le moega.

Sit beside the bed.

Fa'atali i tala ane o le fale'oloa.

Wait next to the shop.

¹⁴ uta l.n., inland

¹⁵ 'āiga n., family; 'ātoa v.i., (be) whole

Note that the two words 'ogātotonu 'middle' and vā 'space between two things, places or people' are different. They are always combined with the article le.

Nofo i le 'ogātotonu o le potu.

Sit in the middle (of) the room.

Nofo i le vā o Pita ma Ioane.

Sit between Peter and John.

'O fea Samuelu?

Where is Samuel?

*'O Samuelu lā e ta'alo i luma o le fale.*¹⁶

He is playing in front of the house.

*E leai se isi 'o i luma.*¹⁷

There is nobody at the front.

Va'ai i tua o le fale.

Look at the back of the house.

E leai se isi.

There is nobody.

'O fea le lo'omatua?

Where is the old woman?

'O lae moe i totonu o le potu.

She is sleeping there in the room.

*Tinā, 'o Samuelu lā e i luga o le lā'au.*¹⁸

Mother, Samuel is up in the tree.

Sau i lalo.

Come down.

5.5 'I AM NOT A FOOL' – NEGATION

*'O a'u 'o lou tinā.*¹⁹

I am your mother.

E lē 'o a'u 'o lou tinā.

I am not your mother.

As you learnt in §2.3, Samoan does not have a verb 'to be'. You simply say 'I your mother' when you want to say 'I am your mother'. Sentences like these are made negative by e lē; e is the tense particle e and lē the negation 'not'.

'O 'oe 'o le vale.

You are a fool.

E lē 'o a'u 'o se vale.

I am not a fool.

5.6 USEFUL PHRASES: Fai le kuka 'Do the cooking'

Tipitipi le fasi povī.

LESSON 6

6.1 ‘I AND YOU’ – INDEPENDENT PRONOUNS

The system of pronouns is more complex in Samoan than in English, and it will take some effort to learn them.

Independent pronouns	a'u	I, me
Preverbal pronouns	Sā 'ou alu.	I went.
Possessive pronouns	'o lo'u tinā	my mother

In this lesson, we deal with independent pronouns.

'O a'u 'o se faiā'oga.	I am a teacher.
'O lātou 'o ni faiā'oga.	They are teachers.

E ū tā'ua!	We (two) will go!
E ū tātou!	We (more than two) will go!
E ū 'oulua?	Are you (two) going?
E ū 'outou?	Are you (more than two) going?

In simple verbal clauses the independent pronouns always follow the verb.

1sg.	a'u	I, me
1sg.em.	'ita, ta'ita	(poor) me
2sg.	'oe	you
3sg.	ia	he, she, it
1du.inc.	tā'ua ('i tā'ua)	we two (I and you)
1du.exc.	mā'ua ('i mā'ua)	we two (but not you)
2du.	'oulua	you two
3du.	lā'ua ('i lā'ua)	they two
1pl.inc.	tātou ('i tātou)	we (I and you)
1pl.exc.	mātou ('i mātou)	we (I and them)
2pl.	'outou	you (more than two)
3pl.	lātou ('i lātou)	they (more than two)

The forms in brackets show variants which are not as frequently used as the other forms.

The personal independent pronouns distinguish between singular (sg.), dual (du.) and plural (pl.), and between inclusive (inc.) and exclusive (exc.). Dual means that two people are involved; exclusive that the person spoken to is excluded ('not you, only us'); and inclusive that he or she is included ('I and you, we and you').

There are two forms for 'I': a'u is the common form, and 'ita or ta'ita an emotional form (em.) which is used by speakers when they are emotionally involved, or want to express humility or appeal for help.

6.2 THE PREPOSITION i WITH PROPER NAMES AND PRONOUNS

The preposition i 'in, at, to' changes to iā and iate in front of pronouns. The form iate (often written ia te) is usually used with the singular pronouns, whereas iā is more frequently used with dual and plural pronouns.

'Aumai le tusi ia te a'u!

Bring/give me the letter!

'Ave le mea'ai iā lātou!

Take the food to them!

The form iā is also used with proper names referring to people.

'Ave le tusi iā Seu!

Give the letter to Seu!

Lafo le tupe iā Makerita!

Send the money to Margaret!

6.3 THE NAMES OF DAYS OF THE WEEK AND MONTHS

The names of the days of the week behave like common nouns and are combined with the article le, whereas the names of months are treated like proper names and do not have an article. Similarly to proper names, the names of months take the preposition iā.

le Aso Sā	Sunday
le Aso Gafua	Monday
le Aso Lua	Tuesday
le Aso Lulu	Wednesday
le Aso Tofi	Thursday
le Aso Faraile	Friday
le Aso To'ona'i	Saturday

The names of days of the week can be used in the plural.

Sau i le Aso Tofi. Come on Thursday.

Sau i Aso Tofi. Come on Thursdays.

E alu le va'a i le Aso To'ona'i. The boat goes on Saturday.

E alu le va'a i Aso To'ona'i. The boat goes on Saturdays.

*E fai ta'alogā lakapī i Aso Lulu 'uma.*¹

They play rugby on all Wednesdays.
(Rugby plays are done on all Wednesdays.)

'o Ianuari	January	iā Ianuari	in January
'o Fepuari	February	iā Fepuari	in February
'o Mati	March	iā Mati	in March
'o 'Aperila	April	iā 'Aperila	in April
'o Mē	May	iā Mē	in May
'o Iuni	June	iā Iuni	in June
'o Iulai	July	iā Iulai	in July
'o 'Aukuso	August	iā 'Aukuso	in August
'o Sētema	September	iā Sētema	in September
'o 'Oketopa	October	iā 'Oketopa	in October
'o Nōvema	November	iā Nōvema	in November
'o Tēsema	December	iā Tēsema	in December

E sau lo'u tamā iā Nōvema.

My father comes in November.

E fai le lotu tamaiti i le māsina 'o 'Oketopa.

The children's service (White Sunday) is held in the month of October.

6.4 ‘THE BOY LOVES THE GIRL’ – VERBS EXPRESSING EMOTIONS

The preposition i, (and its variants iā, iate; in slow speech 'i, 'iā, 'iate) is also used to mark the objects of verbs of emotion.

E alofa le tama i le teine.

The boy loves the girl.

E alolofā 'uma tama iā Sina.

The boys all love Sina.

Sā ita le tinā i le tama.

The mother was angry with the boy.

Sāfeita mātua i tamaiti.

The parents were angry with the children.

You can also change the word order and say:

E alofa i le teine le tama.

The boy loves the girl.

Sā ita i le tama le tinā.

The mother was angry with the boy.

Here are some of the most frequently used verbs of emotion:

alofa (pl. alolofā)	love	ita (pl. feita)	be angry with
fefe (pl. fefefe)	be scared of	mā (pl. mamā)	be ashamed of
fiafia	like, be happy with	mimita (pl. femitai)	be proud of
fiu	be fed up with	musu (pl. mumusu)	sulk, do not like
'ino 'ino	hate, dislike	popole	be worried about

¹ fai v.t., do; be done (there is no passive in Samoan, §13.1); 'uma v., all

*E mimita le fafine i tūlaga o lana fānau i le ā'oga.*²

*E mā le fafine i amio a lana fānau.*³

E 'ino'ino le fafine i amio a le teine.

E fefe le tama i lona tamā.

E fefefe tamaiti i le faiā'oga.

The woman is proud of her children's placings in the school.

The woman is ashamed of her children's behaviour.

The woman dislikes the behaviour of the girl.

The child is afraid of his father.

The children are afraid of the teacher.

Other common verbs which are used with the preposition i ('i) are va'ai 'to see', fa'alogo 'hear, listen', and mana'o 'want'.

*Va'ai i le ata lea.*⁴

Fa'alogo i 'upu a lou tamā.

E mana'o i se ipu kofe le fafine.

Look at this picture.

Listen to the words of your father.

The woman wants a cup of coffee.

6.5 'FOR MARY' – THE PREPOSITIONS ma AND mo 'for'

The prepositions ma and mo both mean 'for'. The difference between them is similar to that of the two possessive prepositions a and o (cf. Lesson 3). Compare:

'Ave ma Mālia le mea'ai.

Give (him or her) the food for Mary.
(Typically said by older people to children doing errands.)

'Ave le mea'ai ma Mālia.

Give the food for Mary.

'O le mea'ai a Mālia.

Mary's food.

'Aumai ma a'u lau mea'ai.

Let me have your food. (Typically said by older people to children who want to test if they would share their food.)

'o le fale'oloa fou mo le nu'u

the new shop for the village

'o le fale'oloa fou o le nu'u

the new shop of the village

In connection with food, ma means that the food is meant for someone to eat. Otherwise ma expresses that something is given to someone to use it or be its new owner. The preposition mo has a wider range of meaning. It can mean 'for the benefit of someone', 'for a certain purpose', 'for a certain price', or 'for some time'.

'Ave le 'ofu o lo'u tinā ma Makerita.

Give (him or her) my mother's dress for Margaret (to wear).

*'O le tupe lea ma le tamāloa.*⁵

This is the money for the man.

² tūlaga n., position, placing; situation

³ amio n., behaviour

⁴ ata n., picture

⁵ tupe n., money

'O le tupe lea mo le mea'ai.
 'O le tupe na fa'aaogā mo le falesā.
 Sāuni mo le su'ega.⁶
 Na sisiva tamaiti mo le 'au vala'aulia.⁷
 'O le mea'ai mo le aso 'ātoa.

This is the money for the food.
 The money was used for the church.
 Prepare for the exam.
 The children danced for the invited guests.
 The food for the whole day.

6.6 THE DIRECTIONAL PARTICLES mai AND atu

Verbs can be combined with directional particles, i.e. particles expressing the direction of an action or a movement. The most common ones are mai and atu.

- | | |
|------------|---|
| mai | 'towards me; to the place where I am now; to the place I am talking about now' |
| atu | 'towards you, away from the place where I am now; away from the place I am talking about now' |

With verbs of speaking mai means that something is said to me and atu that something is said to you, or that you say something to someone else.

Fai mai le toea'inae mānaia le fale.	The old man said (to me) the house is beautiful.
Fai mai Simi e sau taeao.	Jimmy said (to me) he will come tomorrow.
Fai atu i le teine e leai se pasi.	Tell the girl there is no bus.
Sā fai atu le tamāloa e leai se mea.	The man told you there is nothing.
Sau e ta'u mai le fe'au. ⁸	Come and tell me the message.
Alu e ta'u atu i le faife'au le mea 'ua tupu. ⁹	Go and tell the pastor what happened (the thing that has happened).

The verb fa'atau means 'to trade', i.e. 'to buy' and 'to sell'. In order to distinguish between 'buy' and 'sell' you can use mai and atu:

Alu e fa'atau mai se suka.	Go and buy some sugar.
Sā fa'atau mai le falaoa.	He/she bought the bread.
E fa'atau atu le ta'avale mo le valu afe tālā. ¹⁰	The car will be sold for $8,000.
Fa'atau atu i le tamaititi le penilea.	Sell this pen to the child.

The verbs vave 'be fast, early' and tuai 'be late' are often translated by 'come early' and 'come late' when they are combined with mai and atu.

6 sāuni v.t., prepare s.th., v.i., get yourself prepared; su'ega n., exam

7 'au vala'aulia n., guests (< 'au n., group, team + vala'aulia v.t., invite, be invited (cf. §13.1))

8 ta'u v.t., tell s.th.; fe'au 1. n., message, 2. n., duty, s.th. you have to do for somebody else

9 tupu v.i., grow, happen

10 fa'atau v.t., buy, be bought, sell, be sold (there is no distinction between active and passive in Samoan, cf. §13.1.); valu num., eight; afe num., thousand; tālā n., dollar

Vave mai i le fale e fai le tāgamea.

Na vave mai le faiā'oga i le fono.

Na vave atu Simi i le falema'i?

'O le 'ā vave atu le pasi taeao.

E tuai mai le malaga a le Palemia.¹¹

Fai mai Sione sā tuai mai i le lotu ananafi.¹²

Na tuai atu le tama i le ā'oga ananafi.

O le 'ā tuai atu le tiliva falaoa taeao.¹³

Come home early to do the washing.

The teacher came early to the meeting (held at the place I am talking about now).

Did Jimmy come early to the hospital (the place where you were at that time)?

The bus will leave early tomorrow (for your place).

The Prime Minister will come late from his trip. (lit. The Prime Minister's trip will be late.)

Sione said he came late to church yesterday.

The boy was late to school yesterday.

The bread delivery will be late tomorrow (to your place).

Try to understand and to memorise the use of mai and atu with the verb fa'atali 'wait':

fa'atali mai

1. 'wait for me at your place' (I am not at your place now, but I'll come to your place); 2. 'someone waits at the place I am talking about for something or someone to come to him'

fa'atali atu

'wait for me' (I'll go away now, but I'll come back to you)

Fai i le lo'omatua e fa'atali mai.

Tell the old woman to wait.

Na fa'atali mai le fōma'i i le līpoti.¹⁴

The doctor waited for the report.

Fa'atali atu i le fale e va'ai tamaiti.

Wait in the house and mind the children.

6.7 THE PREPOSITION mai 'from'

The preposition mai 'from' is directly connected with common nouns, placenames and the word fea 'where'. In addition, names of persons and the interrogative pronoun ai 'who?' require the preposition iā in addition.

Mai fea le tama?

Where is the boy from?

'O le tama e sau mai Niu Sila.

The boy comes from New Zealand.

E sau mai fea Makerita?

Where is Margaret from?

'O Makerita e sau mai 'Ausetālia.

Margaret is from Australia.

Na 'aumai mai fea le naifi?

 'O le 'ofu mai iā Simi.

The knife is from the shop.
 Where did you buy the bread from?
 The bread was bought from Mackenzies.
 From whom did you get the dress?
 The dress is from Jimmy.

6.8 CONVERSATION: 'O fea le lo'omatua? 'Where is the old woman?'

'Oi, se mālō ali'i Julio.
 'O ā mai 'oe?
 'O lo'o manuia lava, fa'afetai.
 'O fea le lo'omatua?
 'O lo'o alu i le taulaga.¹⁶
 Na'o 'oe i le fale?¹⁷
 'O lea lava. Na'o a'u.

LESSON 7

7.1 'I WENT TO APIA' – PREVERBAL PRONOUNS

- Sā alu 'oe i le ā'oga?* Did you go to school?
Sā 'e alu i le ā'oga? Did you go to school?

In the first example 'you' is expressed by an independent pronoun ('oe), and in the second one by a preverbal pronoun ('e). You might hear the independent pronoun in sentences like this, when adults speak to little children or to foreigners, but the more common form is the preverbal pronoun. With the exception of the tense particle e, the preverbal pronoun always comes after the tense particle and before the verb.

- Sā 'ou alu i Apia.* I went to Apia.
Sā 'ou ma'i. I was sick.
Tā ō! Let's go ((du.inc.) the two of us)!
Tātou ō! Let's go ((pl.inc.) all of us)!

1sg.	'ou, o'u, -'u	I
1sg.em.	ta	I (poor me)
2sg.	'e, e	you
3sg.	ia, na	he, she, it
1du.inc.	tā	we two (I and you)
1du.exc.	mā	we two (but not you)
2du.	lua	you two
3du.	lā	they two
1pl.inc.	tātou	we (I, you and others)
1pl.exc.	mātou	we (but not you)
2pl.	tou	you
3pl.	lātou	they

With preverbal pronouns the tense particle e changes to te, which then follows the pronoun.

'Ou te alu i Sāmoa i le vaiaso lea.

I'll go to Samoa next week.

'E te toe sau āfea?

When do you come again?

'Ou te sau iā 'Aukuso.

I'll come in August.

Lātou te ū i Niu Sila.

They will go to New Zealand.

When following the past tense particles sā and na, 'ou is shortened to 'u in fast spoken language.

Na 'ou sau anapō.

I came last night.

Na'u sau anapō.

Sā 'ou moe i le potu.

I slept in the room.

Sa'u moe i le potu.

7.2 'SINA AND I' – COORDINATION OF PRONOUNS AND NOUNS

Compare the Samoan expressions with their English translations and look at the number of the Samoan and the English pronouns. What is different?

Na mā ū i le siva.

We went to the dance.

'Oulua ma ai?

Who was with you?

Mā'ua ma Sina.

I was with Sina. (lit. I and Sina.)

Sā mātou ū i le tīfaga ananafi.¹

We went to the movies yesterday.

'Outou ma ai?

Who was with you?

Mātou ma Sina ma Makerita.

I was with Sina and Margaret.

Mātou ma tamaiti.

I was with the children.

Mātou ma le lo'omatua.

We were with the old woman.

'O 'outou e ū i le lotu.

You (pl.) are going to church.

Mātou ma ai?

We and who else?

'Outou ma lo'omātutua.

You and the old women.

'Outou ma le lo'omatua ma tamaiti.

You, the old woman and the children.

Na alu le teineitiiti i Apia.

The girl went to Apia.

Lā'ua ma ai?

She and who else?

Lā'ua ma le toe'a'ina.

She and the old man.

Na alu Tala e ta'alo lakapī.

Tala went to play rugby.

Na'o ia?

Just him?

Leai, lātou ma Felise ma Samuelu.

No, he and Felix and Samuel.

In Samoan, the pronoun refers to the total number of people. In English you say ‘Sina and I’. In Samoan you think of two people and use the dual pronoun mā’ua ‘we two’, and then you add who you are talking about besides yourself, e.g. ma Sina ‘and Sina’. Similar constructions are used with preverbal pronouns.

Mā te ō i Sini ma Leona.	Leona and I will go to Sydney.
Lua te toe ō mai ma le teine?	Will you and the girl come again?
’Ua mā tēte’ā ma Simi.²	Simi and I are divorced.
Mātou te ō ma tamaiti.	I will go with the children.
Tou te ō ma tamaiti i Apia?	Are you going with the children to Apia?

7.3 TWO WAYS OF EXPRESSING ‘WANT’

The meaning of ‘want’ is expressed in two different ways. You use the word fia immediately preceding the verb to say that someone wants to do something.

E te fia ’ai?	Do you want to eat?
Lua te fia ’a’ai ma Sina?	Do you and Sina want to eat?
Ou te fia ’ai.	I am hungry. (lit. I want to eat.)
Mā te fia ’a’ai ma le teine.	The girl and I are hungry.
Ou te fia inu.	I am thirsty. (lit. I want to drink.)
Ou te fia ola! Fia ola! or Ta te fia ola!	Help! I want to live! Help! Poor me, I want to live!

If someone wants something or somebody, you use the verb mana’o with the preposition i. With names of people i changes to iā.

Ou te mana’o i le mea lea.	I want this (thing).
E te mana’o i se fasi falaoa?	Do you want a piece of bread?
Ou te mana’o iā Fotu ma Leilani.	I want Fotu and Leilani.

The two words fia and mana’o can be combined.

E te fia mana’o i se ipu kofe?	Would you like a cup of coffee?
Ou te fia mana’o i le pule.	I want (to see) the boss.
Ta te fia mana’o lava i se ’aisikulimi.	I really want an ice-cream.

7.4 EMPHASIS OF NOUN PHRASES

All verbal clauses we have learnt so far started with the verb phrase. For emphasis, the sentence can, however, also start with a noun phrase. This noun phrase is marked by ’o.

² tēte’ā v.i. (pl.), be separated, divorced

Na alu i Apia lou tinā?
Leai, 'o lo'u tamā na alu i Apia,
'a 'o lo'u tinā na nofo i le fale.

'O ai na vili mai?
'O Tāvita na vili mai.

Did your mother go to Apia?
 No, my father went to Apia,
 but my mother stayed at home.

Who rang?
David rang.

7.5 'WHERE AND WHEN?', 'WHO AND WHAT?'

Compare the following pairs of clauses. Which changes do you observe when the phrases i le fale, i le Aso Sā are shifted to the beginning of the clause? The preposition i is changed to 'o, and the verb is followed by ai.

Sā nofo le fafine i le fale o Lima.

'O le fale o Lima sā nofo ai le fafine.

'Ou te alu i le Aso Sā.

'O le Aso Sā 'ou te alu ai.

The woman stayed at Lima's house.

It was Lima's house where the woman stayed.

I will go on Sunday.

On Sunday I'll go.

This rule also applies to questions.

'E te nofo i fea?

'O fea 'e te nofo ai?

Where do you live?

Where do you live?

'E te alu āfea?

'O āfea 'e te alu ai?

When are you going?

When are you going?

Na 'e alu anafea?

'O anafea na 'e alu ai?

When did you go?

When did you go?

Note that phrases with the preposition i do not always refer to places or a certain time (cf. §6.4.):

'Ou te mana'o i le fasi falaoa lea.

'O le fasi falaoa lea 'ou te mana'o ai.

I want this piece of bread.

This piece of bread is what I want.

If the phrase expresses the goal of some movement, or refers to something or somebody a person sees, hears or talks to, ai takes the preposition i (or in slow speech 'i). Compare:

'O fea na nofo ai lou tamā?

'O fea na alu i ai lou tamā?

'O fea 'e te alu i ai?

'O ai na 'e va'ai i ai?

Where did your father stay?

Where did your father go?

Where are you going?

Who did you see?

*'O le leo o ai na 'e fa'alogo i ai?*³

*'O ai na 'e fesili i ai?*⁴

*'O ai na 'e talanoa i ai?*⁵

Whose voice did you hear?

Who did you ask?

Who did you talk to?

Finally ai is used in so-called relative clauses. Compare the following pairs of sentences.

'Ou te mana'o i le mea lea.

'O le ā le mea 'e te mana'o ai?

I want this thing.

What do you want? (lit. What is the thing you want it?)

Sā 'ou sau i le taimi sa'o.

Ta'u mai le taimi sa'o na 'e sau ai.

I came at the correct time.

Tell me the correct time you came at it.

Na 'e va'ai i le mea lea.

'O le ā le mea na 'e va'ai i ai?

You saw this thing.

What did you see? (lit. What is the thing you saw it?)

Ta'u mai le mea na 'e va'ai i ai.

Tell me what you saw (lit. Tell me the thing you saw it).

Na 'e fesili i le tamāloa lale.

'O ai le tamāloa na 'e fesili i ai?

You asked that man.

Who was the man you asked (him)?

7.6 'NOT' – NEGATIONS

The two negations lē 'not' and le'i 'not yet' precede the verb.

'Ou te lē fia 'ai.

I don't want to eat.

'Ou te lē mana'o i le mea lea.

I don't want this thing.

'Ou te lē iloa se mea.

I don't know a thing.

'Ua sau Tāvita?

Has David come?

Leai, e le'i sau.

No, he hasn't come yet.

'Ou te le'i va'ai i ai.

I haven't seen him.

'Ua tuai mai.

He is late.

'Ua vili mai Fuamātala?

Has Fuamatala rung (us here)?

E le'i vili mai.

She didn't ring yet.

Na vili atu Sose ia te 'oe?

Did Sose ring you (there)?

E le'i vili mai ia te a'u.

She didn't ring me yet.

³ leo n., voice

⁴ fesili (i) v.i., ask (s.o.)

⁵ talanoa (i) v.i., talk (to s.o.)

The word leai ‘there is not’ forms negative sentences.

E leai se mea.

There is nothing (lit. not a thing).

E leai se tagata.

There isn’t anybody (lit. not a person).

E leai se tagata sā va’ai i le mea lea.

Nobody saw this. (lit. There isn’t anybody who saw this.)

E leai se tagata sā ’ou va’ai i ai.

I didn’t see anybody. (lit. There isn’t a person I saw.)

E leai se mea e popole ai.

There isn’t anything to worry about.

E leai se mea na ’ou va’ai i ai.

I did not see anything. (lit. There isn’t anything I saw.)

E leai se mea ’ou te mana’o ai.

I don’t want anything.

E leai se mea ’ai ’o totoe.⁶

There is no food left.

Who came with the butter? (lit. Who brought the butter?)

Elena brought the butter.

²⁷ falaoamata n., flour (< falaoa n., bread + mata v.i., (be) raw)

The phrase 'O ai na sau ma...?' 'Who came with...?' is very common. You hear it, for instance, when someone comes home and notices that someone has brought some food or something else for the family. Similarly, the statement Na sau X ma Y. 'X brought Y' is often used to tell others who brought Y. You probably won't hear this kind of sentence very often in English speaking cultures.

LESSON 8

8.1 ‘MY CAR’ – SINGULAR POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS

The Samoan translations of ‘my’, ‘your’, ‘his’, ‘her’, the so-called possessive pronouns are one of the hardest things you must learn. After you have mastered them, everything will be easier. Remember that Samoan has two words translating ‘of’, namely a and o, as for instance, in ‘o le ta’avale a Simi ‘Jimmy’s car’ and ‘o le fale o Simi ‘Jimmy’s house’ (cf. §3.1). This distinction between a and o is also found with possessive pronouns.

’o la’u ta’avale	my car
’o la’u naifi	my knife
’o lo’u tina	my mother
’o lo’u tamā	my father

The forms for ‘my, your, his, her and its’ are a combination of the articles, the possessive preposition o or a, and an ending for the person -u ‘my’, -u ‘your’ and -na ‘his, her, its’: I-a--u, I-o--u ‘my’, I-a-u, I-o-u ‘your’, I-a-na, I-o-na ‘his, her, its’.

3sg.	lana	lona	sana	sona	his, her, its

Examples for the specific noun phrases:

’ola’u ta’avale	my car
’olau ta’avale	your car
’o lana ta’avale	his/her car
’o lo’u ’ofu	my dress
’o lou ’ofu	your dress
’o lona ’ofu	his/her dress

Examples for non-specific noun phrases:

'o sa'u naifi	a knife for me, any of my knives
'o sau naifi	a knife for you, any of your knives
'o sana naifi	a knife for him/her, any of his/her knives
'o so'u 'ofu	a dress for me, any of my dresses
'o sou 'ofu	a dress for you, any of your dresses
'o sona 'ofu	a dress for him/her, any of his/her dresses

'o ni ana naifi	any of his/her knives
'o ni o'u 'ofu	any of my dresses
'o ni ou 'ofu	any of your dresses
'o ni ona 'ofu	any of his/her dresses

There is no word for 'to have' in Samoan. The Samoans use the expression iai 'there is' and leai 'there is not' instead. Note that in questions and in negative sentences the noun phrase has the non-specific article.

Eiai la'u ta'avale.

I have a car (lit. there is my car).

Eiai sau ta'avale?

Do you have a car?

Eleai sa'u ta'avale.

I do not have a car (lit. there is not my car).

Local nouns, which do not have an article, are also combined with possessive pronouns.

i o'u luma

LESSON 9

9.1 ‘OUR CAR’ – DUAL POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS

The dual pronouns refer to two people. The pronouns are combined with the articles and distinguish between o and a forms.

'o lo lā fale	their house (lit. the house of two people)
'o la lā ta'avale	their car (lit. the car of two people)

But there is also a neutral form le. If you use the neutral form, you will never make mistakes mixing A- and O-forms!

'o le lā fale	their house (lit. the house of two people)
'o le lā ta'avale	their car (lit. the car of two people)

Do you have mangoes?

E tele mātou mago.²

We have many mangoes. (lit. Our mangoes are many.)

E leai ni a lātou teine, na'o tama.

They don't have girls, only boys.

9.3 TWO MORE VERBAL PARTICLES: 'ia AND se'i

If you want to express that something should happen or that someone should do something, you use 'ia in the place of a tense-aspect particle.

'ia manuia le malaga!

Have a nice trip! (lit. May the journey be nice!)

'ia tātou onosa'i!

Let's be patient!

The verbal particle se'i is used to politely ask for permission to do something, to ask other people to do something, or to express the wish that something may happen. In the first person se'i can combine with o'u resulting in so'u (cf. §7.1).

Se'i o'u alu muamua.

Let me go first.

So'u alu muamua.

Let me go first.

Se'i sau se isi!

Could someone come (and help)!

Se'i sau se isi.

Wait until someone comes.

Se'i toeitiiti.³

Wait a little bit.

² tele v.i., (be) many (animals, things)

³ toeitiiti v.i., it is nearly, almost going to happen

You also use se'i when you want to say that something should happen first and then something else.

Se'i alu le tamāloa tātou 'a'ai lea⁴

Se'i o'u alu i Apia fa'atau se suka.

So'u alu i Apia fa'atau se suka.

Se'i 'āmata le fono o'u alu i totonu.

We'll eat after the man has left.

When I go to Apia, I'll buy some sugar.

When I go to Apia, I'll buy some sugar.

I'll go inside when the meeting starts.

The phrase se'i 'uma 'may...be finished' translates as English 'after' (cf. §15.6.).

Se'i 'uma le lotu tātou ō loa .

Let's go after the service. (lit. May the service be finished, let's go then.)

9.4 USEFUL PHRASES: 'Ia manuia – WISHES AND BLESSINGS

'Ia manuia le Kirisimasi.

Merry Christmas.

'Ia manuia le Tausaga Fou.

Happy New Year.

'Ia manuia lou aso fānau.

LESSON 10

10.1 ‘ONE, TWO, THREE’ – CARDINAL NUMERALS

The cardinal numerals behave like verbs. Compare:

E sisiva tamaiti taeao.

The children will dance tomorrow.

E mānanaia fale Sāmoa.¹

Samoan houses are beautiful.

E tolu fale Sāmoa.

There are three Samoan houses. (lit. The Samoan houses are three.)

E tolu a'u pua'a.

I have three pigs. (lit. My pigs are three.)

If the numerals are used to count human beings, they have the prefix to'a-:

E to'atolu tamaiti.

There are three children.

E to'atolu tamaiti e sisiva taeao.

Three children will dance tomorrow. (lit. Three are the children who will dance tomorrow.)

E sisiva tamaiti e to'atolu taeao.

Three children will dance tomorrow. (lit. The children, (who) are three, will dance tomorrow.)

The question word fia ‘how many’ is used in the same way as the numerals:

E fia au pua'a?

How many pigs do you have? (lit. How many are your pigs?)

E to'afia tamaiti e sisiva taeao?

How many children will dance tomorrow?

¹ mānaiā v.i. (pl. mānanaia), nice, beautiful

The numbers are:

0	'ō, selo
1	tasi	10	sefulu
2	lua	20	luasefulu
3	tolu	30	tolusefulu
4	fā	40	fāsefulu
5	lima	50	limasefulu
6	ono	60	onosefulu
7	fitu	70	fitusefulu
8	valu	80	valusefulu
9	iva	90	ivasefulu
11	sefulutasior tasitasi	1000	afe
12	sefululua or tasilua	4014	fāafesefulufā
110	selausefulu	5002	limaafe male lua
106	selau ma le ono	10,000	sefuluafe
208	luaselau ma le valu	100,000	selauafe
370	toluselaufitusefulu	1,000,000	milionā

E fia ou tausaga?

How old are you? (lit. How many are your years?)

E fāsefulu ono.

46.

E fia le tau?

How much is it? (lit. How much is the price?)

E fitusefulu sene.

70c.

E fia le pāsese?

How much is the fare?

E lua tālā.

$2.00

E to'afia lau fānau?

How many children do you have? (lit. How many are your offspring?)

E to'atolu teine, 'ae to'afā tama.

Three girls and four boys.

E iai sau telefoni?

Do you have a telephone?

'O le ā le nūmera?

What is the number?

Lua lua fā ono tasi.

22461.

*'O le ā le mamao o le tou fale?*² How far is your house?
*Pē limasefululima maila.*³ About 55 miles.

limasefulusene	50c
tālā luasefulu	$1.20
sefulu tālā ma le lima sene	$10.05

10.2 'ONE, TWO, THREE EACH'

In combination with numerals, the notion of 'each' is expressed by ta'i, which precedes the numeral. It is usually written as a separate word, especially when the numeral is quite long.

E ta'i luasefulu sikaleti i le pepa e tasi.	There are twenty cigarettes in each packet.
E ta'i valu tālā i le 'apa.	It is $8.00 for each tin.
E ta'i fia?	How many for each one?

10.3 USEFUL PHRASES: E fia ou tausaga? 'How old are you?'

There are many different expressions to ask for somebody's age or to talk about it.

E fia tausaga o lou tamā?	How old is your father?
'O le ā le matua o lou tinā? ⁴	How old is your mother?
'O le ā le mātutua o ou mātua?	How old are your parents?
'O le ā lou matua?	How old are you? (lit. What is your age?)
'Ua fia tausaga o lou ūlagā? ⁵	How old are you? (lit. How many are the years of your life?)
'Ua fia nei tausaga o lou soifuaga? ⁶	How old are you? (lit. How many are now the years of your life?)
'O le ā le matua o lou soifuaga?	How old are you? (lit. What is the age of your life?)
'Ua 'ātoa nei lo'u tolusefulu. ⁷	I am now 30. (lit. My 30 are complete now.)
'Ua maua nei le fā lima o o'u tausaga.	I am now 45. (lit. Have got now the 45 of my years.)

2 mamao n., distance

3 pē adv., about

 'O (6) Aso To'ona'i ma le (7) 'ou te lē (8) ai.

LESSON 11

11.1 ‘THREE ONIONS’ – MORE ABOUT COUNTING

When you count specific items, you can use two constructions. In the first one the numeral precedes the noun, in the second one it follows.¹

E lua a'u ta'avale.
two my cars

I have two cars. (lit. My cars are two.)

E iai a'u ta'avale e lua.

I have two cars. (lit. There are my cars which are two.)

E lua a'u tusi 'ua maua.

I have got two letters. (lit. My letters (I) have got are two.)

'Ua maua a'u tusi e lua.

I have got two letters. (lit. I have got my letters which are two.)

With non-specific nouns, e.g. ni aniani ‘some, any onions’, the construction is different (you say something like ‘any onions a three’). The noun has the article ni (non-specific plural) and the numeral the article se (non-specific singular). The numeral follows the noun.

'Aumai ni aniani se tolu.

Give me three onions.

'Aumai ni pauna suka se tolu.

Give me three pounds of sugar.

11.2 ‘THIS AND THAT’ – DEMONSTRATIVES

Demonstratives are words like ‘this’ and ‘that’ in English. Samoan makes finer distinctions than English. When Sina asks Tevita: 'O fea la'u peni? ‘Where is my pen?’ then Tevita can answer with one of the following:

'O lau peni lea.

This is your pen (when he has the pen).

'O lau peni lele.

This is your pen (when he has not got the pen, but when it is close to him).

'O lau peni lenā.

That is your pen (when Sina has it herself).

'O lau peni nale.

That is your pen (when it is closer to Sina than to Tevita).

¹ This means, it either is the main predicate or the predicate of a relative clause.

'O lau peni lalā.

That is your pen (when it is away from both Sina and Tevita).

'O lau peni lelā.

That is your pen (when it is further away from both Sina and Tevita).

The demonstrative lea is very general and may also be used for things that are not close to either the speaker or the hearer. For things close to the speaker you can also hear lenei in more formal language. In expressions of time lenei contrasts with lea, but is not formal. It can be shortened to nei.

'o le vāiaso lenei

this week

'o le vāiaso nei

this week

'o le vāiaso lea

next week

'o le vāiaso lea na te'a²

last week (lit. that week which has passed)

In spoken language the demonstratives usually follow the noun.

'Aumai le ipu lea.

Give me that cup.

'Aumai le ipu lele.

Give me that cup (close to you).

'Aumai le ipu lalā.

Give me that cup (over there).

Sau e 'avatu le ipu lea.

Come, take this cup away.

Sau e 'avatu le ipu lenei.

Come, take this cup away (formal).

The singular forms of the demonstratives contain the article le. Compare the singular forms with the corresponding plural forms:

SINGULAR	PLURAL
lea this	ia or laia these
lenei this (formal)	nei these (formal)
lenā that (with you)	nā those (with you)
nale that (close to you)	nae those (close to you)
lele this (close to me)	īe or leie these (close to me)
lalā that (over there)	iae those (over there)
lelā that (further away over there)	īā those (further away over there)

In written language, where we usually only find lea, lenei, and lenā, the demonstratives can either follow or precede the noun. The noun does not take the article when the demonstrative comes first.

lemea lea	leamea	this thing
lemea lenei	leneimea	this thing
lemea lenā	lenāmea	that thing

11.3 ‘HERE AND THERE’ – LOCATIVES

As with demonstratives, Samoan has more words than English to express ‘here’ and ‘there’.

Sau i 'ī.	Come here.
Sau i 'inei.	Come here.
Alu i 'ile.	Go there (a few meters away).
Alu i 'ole.	Go over there (not too far over there).
Alu i 'ō.	Go over there (far away).

11.4 USEFUL PHRASES: GIVING DIRECTIONS TO THE DRIVER

Alu sa'o.	Go straight.
Afe i le taumatau.	Turn to the right.
Afe i le tauagavale.	Turn to the left.
Fa'atū i 'ī.³	Stop here.
Fa'atū i le fale'oloa lale.	Stop at the shop over there.
Va'ai se fale'oloa e fa'atū ai se'i fai la'u fa'atauga.⁴	Look for a shop to stop so that I can do my shopping.
Momoli a'u i le fale'oloa o Mōlesi.⁵	Take me to Morris' supermarket.
Alu atu la'itiiti i luma.	Go a bit further.
Fa'alēmū lau ta'avale.⁶	Slow down (your car).
Afe i le 'auala pefu i le agavale.⁷	Turn into the dusty road on the left.
Afe i le pou mōlī lona tolu i le agavale.⁸	Turn to the left at the third lamp post.
Afe i le 'auala nā e iai le pā lā'au.⁹	Turn into the driveway where the hedge is.
Afe i le agavale i talane o le falesā Māmona.¹⁰	Turn to the left at the side of the Mormon church.

11.5 ‘THE DAY BEFORE YESTERDAY’ – TALKING ABOUT TIME

Here are the most important expressions for certain periods of time, and the various times of the day.

³ fa'atū v.i., stop, make stand (here: the car)

¹⁰ talane, tala ane n., side

sēkone	second	vaveao	dawn
mīnute	minute	taeaopō	early morning when it is still dark
itūlā	hour	taeao	morning
aso	day, date	aoauli	noon or early afternoon
vaiaso	week	afiafī	late afternoon or evening
māsina	month	afiafī pō	dusk
tausaga	year	pō	night
		valuāpō	midnight
ananafi	yesterday	analeilā	earlier in the day
tala atu ananafi	day before yesterday	anataaeao	earlier in the morning
i le asō	today	ananei	earlier today
taeao	tomorrow	anapō	last night
tala atu taeao	day after tomorrow	nānei	later today, tonight

11.6 TELLING THE TIME OF DAY IN HOURS AND MINUTES

When you want to know what the time is now, you ask:

'Ua tā se fia?

strike a how many

What's the time? (lit. A how many has struck?)

But if you want to know the schedule of the bus, the plane or a particular event you ask:

'O le ā le taimi o le pasi?

the what the time of the bus

What is the time of the bus?

'O le ā le taimi e 'āmata ai le lotu?¹¹

the what the time start the service

When does the church service start? (lit. What is the time the service starts?)

The expressions for 'it is...o'clock', 'it's...minutes past...', 'it's...minutes to...', etc. follow a similar pattern:

'Ua tā le lima.

strike the five

It's five o'clock.

'Ua te'a le lima i mīnute e sefulu.

pass the five by minutes the ten

It's ten minutes past five. (lit. The five is passed by the ten minutes.)

¹¹ ai refers back to le taimi

'Ua sefulu mīnute e te'a ai le lima.
ten minutes the pass.by them the five

It's ten minutes past five. (lit. Ten are the minutes the five is passed by them.)

'Ua toe sefulu mīnute tā le lima.
more ten minutes strike the five

It's ten minutes to five. (lit. The minutes are ten more, (then) the five strikes.)

'Ua 'afa le lima.
half the five

It's half past five. (lit. The five is half.)

'Ua toe lima mīnute i le 'afa o le valu.
more five minutes to the half of the eight

It's five minutes to half past eight. (lit. The minutes are five more to the half of the eight.)

These examples show two new constructions:

1. Numerals can become nouns (can be nominalised), e.g. le lima 'the five', le valu 'the eight'.
2. Relative clauses are similar to constructions with fronted i-phrases, and therefore have ai.

'Ua te'a le lima i mīnute e sefulu.

It is ten minutes past five.

'Ua sefulu mīnute e te'a ai le lima.

It is ten minutes past five.

11.7 CONVERSATION: 'O le fono 'The meeting'

'O le ā le taimi o lau fono?

What is the time of your meeting?

'O le taeao.

In the morning.

'O āfea e fai ai?

When is it? (lit. When is it done?)

'O le Aso Lulu lea.

Next Wednesday.

'O le ā le 'umi?

How long is it? (lit. What is the length?)

Etolu itūlā.

Three hours. (lit. The hours are three.)

11.8 CONVERSATION: 'O le malaga i Niu Sila 'Travelling to New Zealand'

*'O āfea e te alu ai i Niu Sila?*¹²

When are you going to New Zealand?

'Ou te alu iā 'Aukuso.

'O le ā fo'i le taimi?	What's the time again?
'O le tā o le iva i le taeao.	It's nine o'clock in the morning.
Fa'afetai fa'amana tu mai.	Thank you for reminding me.
Tōfā Soifua.	Good bye.
Soifua.	Bye.

¹⁴ Note that there is no pronoun in the Samoan text. The word ai refers back to le taimi.¹⁵ pe 'ā conj. + future tense 'ā, when, if¹⁶ i ai since 'o fea 'where' refers to the goal, you use i ai instead of ai.¹⁷ talanoa v.i., speak, talk; failautusi n., secretary¹⁸ 'onosa'i v.i., be patient¹⁹ saunoa v.i. (u.f.), speak²⁰ vili v.i., ring, dial; fa'amana tu v.t., remind²¹ po'o po plus 'o; po particle introducing questions²² e uiga i it concerns, about

LESSON 12

12.1 E sā ona ulaula ‘Smoking is forbidden’ – VERBS WITH ona CLAUSES

A number of verbs are combined with clauses which start with ona.

'āmata	begin, start
'uma	be finished, done
muamua	be first
mulimuli	be last

'Ua 'āmata fo'i ona toe inu pia lo'u tamā.
it started again that again drink beer my father
My father started to drink beer again. (lit. It started again that my father drinks beer.)

'Ua 'uma ona 'ai le teine.
it finished that eat the girl
The girl has already eaten. (lit. It is finished that the girl eats.)

lata	be close, near
leva	be a long time since
tuai	be late, too late
vave	be fast, (too) early

'Ua lata ona toe 'āmata ā'oga.
it close that again start the.schools
The schools are going to start again soon. (lit. It is close that the schools start again).

'Ua leva ona alu le pasi.
it long.time.ago that go the bus
The bus has gone a long time ago. (lit. It is a long time ago since the bus has gone.)

'Ua tuai ona ala le tama.
it late that wake.up the child
The child woke up too late. (lit. It is late that the child woke up).

'O le 'ā tuai ona ū.
it will be late that go (pl.)
We will be too late. (lit. It will be late that (we) go).

faigōfie	be easy
faigatā	be difficult
māsanī	be used to
sili	be better, best, more, most
E faigōfie ona su'i le 'ofu.	The dress is easily sewn. (lit. It is easy to sew the dress.)
'Ua faigatā ona iloa le 'auala.	The road is difficult to see. (lit. It is difficult to see the road.)
Sā māsanī ona 'ou nofonofo i 'I.¹	I used to sit here. (lit. It was a habit that I sat here.)
E sili ona 'e nofo.	You better stay. (lit. It is best that you stay).
mafai	be able, can, may
taga	be allowed, permitted
sā	be forbidden, banned
ao	must, be appropriate
tatau	must, should
E lē mafai ona 'ou 'ai.	I cannot eat. (lit. It is not possible that I eat.)
E sā ona ulaula.	It is forbidden to smoke.
'Ua ao ona fai se pālota.	There should be a ballot. (lit. It is appropriate to do a ballot.)
Sā tatau ona tū lau ta'avale.	Your car should have stopped.

Note that the ona clause does not contain a tense particle. The tense is expressed with the first verb.

12.2 ‘THE DANCING OF THE GIRL’ – NOMINALISATIONS

Verbal clauses are often nominalised in Samoan. Compare:

'Ua sau le pasi.	The bus has come.
'O le sau o le pasi.	The coming of the bus.
Sā siva le teine.	The girl danced.
'Ole siva a le teine.	The dancing of the girl.

In nominalisations of this kind, you just take the verb and use it like a noun.

¹ nofonofo v.i., sit for a while

*'Ou te fiafia i lo'u alu i Sāmoa.*²

I am looking forward to go to Samoa. (lit. I am happy about my going to Samoa.)

*Na 'ou te'i i le 'e'ē a lo'u tuagane.*³

I was shocked when my brother screamed. (lit. I was shocked at the screaming of...)

*Fa'afetai mo le lafoina mai o le tupe.*⁴

Thank you for sending the money. (lit. Thank you for the sending of the money.)

Fa'afetai i lo tou fesoasoani mai.

Thank you (pl.) for helping.

The time of the day can be expressed by a nominalisation. Compare:

'Ua tā le lima.

it strike the five

It is five o'clock. (lit. The five has struck.)

E sau le pasi i le tā o le lima.

come the bus at the strike of the five

The bus comes at five o'clock. (lit. The bus comes at the striking of the five.)

'O le tā o le lima e sau ai le pasi.

the strike of the five come then the bus

At five o'clock the bus comes. (lit. The striking of five, the bus comes then.)

The verb 'ese ‘be extreme, extraordinary’ is used with nominalisations for emphasis.

E 'ese le ulavale o le tama.

The boy is extremely naughty. (lit. The naughtiness of the boy is extreme.)

E 'ese le paīē o le fafine.

The woman is very lazy. (lit. The laziness of the woman is extreme.)

E 'ese le telē o le pusa.

The box is very big. (lit. The size of the box is extreme.)

E 'ese le fia poto.

He/she is very arrogant. (lit. The want to be clever is extreme.)

For further emphasis ma can be inserted after 'ese. Note that it is not necessary to mention who or what you refer to (e.g. the boy or the woman).

E 'ese ma le ulavale.

He is extremely naughty indeed.

E 'ese ma le paīē.

He is extremely lazy indeed.

E 'ese ma le telē o le pusa.

He is extremely big indeed.

E 'ese ma le fia poto.

He is extremely arrogant indeed.

² fiafia v.i., be happy, like to, looking forward

³ te'i v.i., be surprised, shocked; 'e'ē v.i., scream

⁴ lafo v.t. (lafoina), send

12.3 ‘FIRST, SECOND, THIRD’ – ORDINAL NUMERALS

Strictly speaking there are no ordinal numerals in Samoan as in English ‘first, second, third’, etc. Instead, the verb muamua ‘go, be first’, constructions formed by the possessive pronoun lona, and the cardinal numeral are used.

muamua	first
lona lua	second
lona tolu	third
lona fā	fourth
'o le aso muamua	the first day
'o le aso lona lua	the second day
'o le aso lona tolu	the third day
'o le lona lua o aso	the second day (the second of the days)
'o le lona tolu o aso	the third day (the third of the days)

12.4 Talu ‘since’

The word talu ‘since’ can be used with phrases and with clauses. In phrases it is often combined with mai ‘from’.

'Ua 'ou ma'i talu mai ananafi.	I have been sick since yesterday.
talu mai le Kilisimasi	since Christmas
talu mai le tausaga 'ua te'a	since last year

When talu is used with clauses, it is combined with ona.

'Ua teine lelei Mālia talu ona e sau.	Mary's been a good girl since you came .
'Ua leaga le ta'avale talu ona fealua'i ai Simi.⁵	The car is bad since Jimmy drove it .
Talu ona 'ou ola 'ou te le'i va'ai i se fa'älavelave fa'apēnei.⁶	I have not seen an accident like this in my whole life (lit. since I lived).

12.5 USEFUL PHRASES: Mālō! ‘Well done!’ – COMPLIMENTS

Compliments often have the structure mālō le... ‘Congratulations for the...’ whereby the noun refers to what has been done well. Note that mālō is also used in greetings.

⁵ fealua'i v.i., go around

⁶ fa'apēnei v.i., (be) like this

Mālō le fa'auli!	Well done the driving! (said to the driver)
Mālō le tapua'i!	Thank you for your support!
Mālō le sausaunoa! (u.f.)	Congratulations for your dancing!
Mālō le tautai! (u.f.)	Well done the fishing!
Mālō le se'e!	Well done the weaving! (lit. the shuffling backwards or forwards while sitting cross-legged on the floor and weaving a mat)
Mālō le 'a'aosolo! (u.f.)	Well done the moving of hands (while weaving a mat)!
Mālō le gāsese! (u.f.)	Well done the preparation of food!
Mālō le taumafai!	Congratulations on your success!
Mālō le ta'alo!	Congratulations for your playing!
Mālō le ta'alo tausa'afia! ⁷	Congratulations for your sportsmanship!
Mālō le fa'amālosi!	Congratulations for trying very hard!
Mālō le lotonu'u!	Congratulations for your patriotism!
Mālō le fai mea mafai!	Congratulations for making it happen!
Mālō le gālue!	Well done the work!
Fa'amālō i le tapua'iga a le atunu'u.	Well done the country's prayers.
Fa'amālō i le 'au manumālō.	Congratulations to the winning team.
Fa'amālō fa'afetai.	Well done and thank you.

12.6 USEFUL PHRASES: Fa'atālofa fa'aaloalo ‘Respectful greeting’

There are two kinds of greeting formulas. The first one starts with mālō which means ‘well done, welcome’.⁸

Mālō le soifua maua.	Polite greeting to anybody.
Mālō le lagi e mamaā ⁹	Greeting to a high ranking chief (tamāli'i)
Mālō le malaga manuia.	Welcome said to people who came travelling from another village or arriving safely from overseas.

⁷ tausa'afia v.i., have good spirit as shown by a cheerful face and fair playing

⁹ lagi n., sky; mamaā v.i., (be) clean, clear

In the second greeting formula you simply ask a seemingly unnecessary question whether the person you greet has come or what he or she is doing just now.¹⁰

'Ua 'e sau?	Have you come?
'Ua palepō mai lou sā? (u.f.) ¹¹	Your boat has arrived at night? (said to s.o. who comes back from fishing at night)
'Ua lāina mai lau tōfā a le tu'ua. ¹²	Your honourable high ranking talking chief has come in the sun.
'Ua 'e mānava?	Have you finished work?
'Ua 'e fo'i mai?	Have you come back?
'Ā 'e alu i le lotu? ¹³	Are you going to church?
'E te alu i le fale'oloa?	Are you going to the shop?
'O fai sau galuega? ¹⁴	Are you doing some work?
'O fai sau tāgamea?	Are you doing some washing?
'E te fa'atau?	Are you going shopping?

12.7 CONVERSATION: Malaga i le tama'i ta'avale 'Travelling by taxi'

Tālofa. 'O fea 'e te malaga i ai?	Hello, where are you going?
Se'i momoli atu lava a'u i le Tusitala.	Take me to the Tusitala.
'O lea 'ua tā o'o. ¹⁵	We have arrived.
Fa'atali atu. E lē 'umi.	Wait. It won't take long.
Matua'i vave. ¹⁶	That's quick.
Momoli loa a'u i To'omatagi.	Take me to To'omatagi.
'O gāfea?	Where about?
Fale o le 'au 'Ausetālia. ¹⁷	At the Australian houses.
'O lea 'ua taunu'u.	We are here.
'E fia le pāsese?	What is the fare?
Elima tālā.	$5.00.
Oka e lē sa'o. E tatau ona tolu tālā.	Oh no, that is not correct. It should be $3.00.
Ia, 'ua lava lā le tolu tālā, pē 'ā malie i ai lou loto. Fa'afetai lava.	Okay, $3.00 is enough, if you don't mind.
	Thank you.

¹⁰ Compare English greetings like Hey, you are back! As it is evident that this person is back you do not want to say anything new by this phrase, but simply acknowledge the fact that he or she has been away and is back now.

¹¹ palepō v.i. (u.f.), arrive at night; sā n. (u.f.), boat

¹² lāina mai v.i., be exposed to the sun coming here; tu'ua n., high ranking talking chief

¹³ 'ā TAM, short form of the future tense particle

¹⁴ 'o TAM, short form of the progressive particle

¹⁵ o'o v.i., arrive

¹⁶ matua'i adv., very

¹⁷ 'au n., team, group

12.8 CONVERSATION: Mānaia le aso! ‘What a lovely day!’

Ta’i mānaia le aso.	What a lovely day.
’Ioe, se’i vaai i le lanumoana o le lagī.	Yes, just look at the blue sky.
O ananafī sā le’i timu fo’i. ¹⁸	It was also not raining yesterday.
Na’o le susulu mānaia o le lā. ¹⁹	Just the sun shining beautifully.
Na sau i le leitiō e lē timu le asō.	It came on the radio that there is no rain today.
’Ua ta fia tā’ele i se vaitafe mālū. ²⁰	I want to bathe at a cool river.
Tātou ō ma tamaiti i Piula.	Let’s (pl.) go with the kids to Piula.
E lē mamao mai Apia.	It’s not far from Apia.
E fa’afefea ona tātou ō? ²¹	How do we (pl.) go?
Tātou ō i lau ta’avale ’auā e lāpo’ā.	Let’s go in your car because it’s big.
E lē mafai ona fealua’i ’onae leai se laisene.	(The car) cannot go because it is not registered.
Tātou ō i le pasi.	Let’s go by bus.
Ia, ’ua lelei.	Okay, that’s fine.

12.9 EXERCISES

EXERCISE 1: Form a sentence beginning with sili ‘it is best’.

’Ou te nofo ’ae alu ’oe.	I’ll stay, but you go.
→ E sili ona ’ou nofo ’ae alu ’oe.	→ It’s best that I stay and you go.
1. Mātou te nonofo ’uma.	We will all stay.
2. ’E te alu i le falema’i.	You will go to the hospital.
3. Tātou te ō i totonu o le fale.	We will go inside the house.

6. _____ 'aumai se māsimā.
7. _____ mo le meaalofa.
8. _____ le gālue.
9. _____ le fa'auli.
10. _____ le aso.

LESSON 13

13.1 ‘MY FATHER KILLED THE PIG’ – TRANSITIVE VERBS

Verbal sentences can express that something happens or that somebody does something. They consist of a verb phrase and one or more noun phrases.

Sā siva le teine.	The girl danced.
Sāsisiva tamaiti.	The children danced.
’Ua ma’i le pepe.	The baby is sick.

Here the participants of the event are expressed by a simple noun phrase, i.e. le teine ‘the girl’, tamaiti ‘the children’ and le pepe ‘the baby’. These noun phrases do not have a preposition, they are unmarked. If a sentence has two noun phrases, one is unmarked and the other one has a preposition, for example, the preposition i.

Na va’ai le teine i le tama.	The girl saw the boy. see the girl to the boy
E alofa le teine i le tama.	The girl loves the boy. love the girl to the boy
Sā matamata tamaiti i le lakapī.	The children watched the rugby. watch the children to the rugby

Sentences of this form often express sensations ('see', 'hear', etc.) or emotions ('love', 'hate', etc.). Actions like 'hit' or 'kill' are expressed by a different type of sentence.

Sā tapē e lo’u tamā le pua'a.	My father killed the pig. kill my father the pig
--------------------------------------	---

Note that the noun phrase for 'my father', the doer of the action, has the preposition e, whereas the noun phrase for 'the pig' is unmarked. If you want to say 'the pig was killed' without mentioning who did it, you leave out e lo’u tamā and simply say Sā tapē le pua'a. 'The pig was killed'. Note that the verb form has not been changed. It is still tapē. In order to have a name for noun phrases like e lo’u tamā 'my father', we simply call them the e-noun phrases.¹ The verbs which can be combined with e-noun phrases are called transitive verbs.²

¹ Linguists call them ergative or agentive noun phrases.

² When you compare the Samoan verbs with the English verbs, you will notice that not all English transitive verbs ('love', 'ask') are transitive in Samoan, e.g. alofa 'love', fesili 'ask'. In order to avoid confusion one can call the Samoan transitive verbs 'ergative verbs', which means that these verbs can be combined with the ergative noun phrase, i.e. the e-noun phrase.

INTRANSITIVE VERBS

alu	go
alofa	love
ita	angry
fai	say
fesili	ask
tautala	talk
ma'i	sick, ill

TRANSITIVE VERBS

sasa	smack, beat
'aumai	bring
'ave	take
fai	do, make
pu'e	catch
teu	decorate
tapena	tidy up

Na pu'e e le leoleo le pāgotā.
catch the police the culprit

The police caught the criminal.

Na teu e lo'u tinā le falesā.
decorate my mother the church

My mother decorated the church.

Na tapena le fale e tamaiti.
tidy.up the house the.children

The children tidied up the house.

As the last example shows, the e-noun phrase may follow the unmarked noun phrase. A third type of sentence for expressing actions is this:

Na 'ai le talo a le tama.
eat the taro of the boy

The boy ate his taro. (lit. The taro of the boy was eaten.)

Na tapena le 'ato pa'u a le fafine.
pack the basket leather of the woman

The woman packed her suitcase. (lit. The suitcase of the woman was packed.)

The persons who do the actions are le tama 'the boy' and le fafine 'the woman'. But since the boy ate his taro and the woman packed her suitcase, the possessive prepositions are used. Only if the taro and the suitcase did not belong to the boy and the woman respectively, you would say:

Na 'ai e le tama la'u talo.

The boy ate my taro.

Na tapena e le fafine la'u 'ato pa'u.

The woman packed my suitcase.

Further examples for this use of possessive constructions:

Na maua le pāsese o Pita.

Pita has got his fare.

Na fai lau mea ā'oga?

Did you do your homework?

*Na inu lau vai?*³

Did you drink your water/medicine?

13.2 Fa'atauga 'Shopping' – VERBAL NOUNS

You have probably noticed that nouns with the ending -ga are related to verbs.

³ lit. The fare of Pita was got. Was your homework done? Was your water drunk?

fa'atau	buy, sell	fa'atauga	shopping
tafaō	go for a walk, spend one's leisure time	tāfaoga	trip, travel for pleasure
ta'alo	play	ta'alogā	game
mālōlō	rest	mālōlogā	rest

These verbal nouns not only express the action, i.e. 'shopping', 'travelling', but can also in certain contexts refer to the people who do it, i.e. the shoppers, the travellers. The most frequent contexts for these constructions are 'ua alu 'has gone', 'ua sau 'has come'. When you want to say exactly who did the action, you use the possessive construction.

'Ua alu le fa'atauga i Apia.

The shoppers have gone to Apia.

'*Ua alu le tu'uaga a tamaiti i Savai'i.*⁴

The children have gone to Savai'i for the holidays. (lit. The holiday making of the children went to Savai'i.)

'*Ua alu le sā'iliga a le tinā mo lana tama*⁵

The mother has gone to look for her child. (lit. The searching of the mother for her child has gone.)

'Ua sau lau ta'elega?

Are you back from (your) the bath/shower?

'Ua sau le savaliga a le toeaina?

Is the old man back from his walk?

13.3 'THE WHOLE DAY HAS GONE' – MORE PHRASES ABOUT TIME

The following phrases express duration.

*Na alu le aso 'ātoa 'o o'u moe.*⁶

I slept the whole day. (lit. The whole day went while I was sleeping.)

Na alu le vайaso 'ātoa 'o fa'atali le kāmuta.

We waited for the carpenter for a whole week (while waiting for the carpenter).

Na alu le māsina 'ātoa e leai se timu.

A whole month without rain.

Na alu lo'u taimi 'ātoa i le faiga o le mea'ai.

My whole time was spent on cooking.

E 'ātoa le itūlā 'o fa'atali le pasi.

I waited a whole hour for the bus. (lit. The hour is complete, waiting for the bus.)

E 'ātoa le tausaga 'o nofo Makerita i Niu Sila.

Margaret lived in New Zealand for a whole year.

E 'ātoa le fā vайaso e le'i maua le tamaitiiti.

The child was lost for a total of four weeks.

⁴ tu'uaga n., holiday making (< tūua v.i., break up school (finish school in the afternoon or go on holidays))

⁵ sā'ilī v.t., look for, search for

⁶ 'ātoa v.i., (be) whole; 'o short form of the progressive particle

LESSON 14

14.1 Lelei AND fa'alelei – THE PREFIX fa'a

Many intransitive verbs can be changed into transitive verbs by the prefix fa'a-.

INTRANITIVE VERB		TRANSITIVE VERB
leaga	be bad, damaged	fa'aleaga	make bad, spoil, ruin, damage
fou	be new	fa'afou	make new, repair
moe	sleep	fa'amoe	put to sleep
ola	live, run (of engines, etc.)	fa'aola	save, spare, turn on or start (the engine, fire, etc.)
vave	be fast	fa'avave	hurry

'Ua leaga le pasi.

The bus is damaged.

'Ua fa'aleaga e tamaiti le pasi.

The children damaged the bus.

The prefix fa'a can also derive transitive verbs from nouns.

NOUN	TRANSITIVE VERB
suka	fa'asuka sweeten with sugar; add sugar
māsimā	fa'amāsimā add salt
pata	fa'apata butter (the bread)

'Ua 'uma ona fa'asuka lau tī?

Is your tea already sweetened?

E te fia mana'o e fa'amāsimā lau supo?

Do you want to salt your soup?

Fa'apata 'uma fasi falaoa!

Butter all the slices of bread!

Fa'a has other meanings. It can, for instance, derive nouns from other nouns. These nouns often have the meaning 'something like the original noun'.

fanua	land, property	fa'afanua	map
gata	snake	fa'agata	vaccine
fafine	woman	fa'afafine	a male who behaves like a woman

E telē lo'u fanua.

My property is big.

E iai sau fa'afanua?

Do you have a map?

Furthermore, fa'a derives adjectives from nouns or from nouns with articles. These adjectives cannot be used as predicates like lelei 'good' (cf. §4.7).

NOUN	ADJECTIVE
atunu'u	country, nation
le tausaga	the year
	fa'aatunu'u national fa'aletausaga annual

E fai tēuga fa'aatunu'u a teine.	The girls will wear the national costumes.
'O le fono a le PSA e fai fa'aletausaga.	The PSA meeting is annual. ¹

The prefix fa'a- also derives adjectives and the names of languages from country names:

Siāmani	Germany	fa'aSiāmani	German
Peretānia	Britain	fa'aPeretānia	British, English
Sāmoa	Samoa	fa'aSāmoa	Samoan, Samoan language, culture

The word fa'aSāmoa refers to both the Samoan language and the Samoan culture:

Tautala fa'aSāmoa! Speak Samoan!

O le fa'aipoipoga fa'aSāmoa. The Samoan wedding.

14.2 Alofa AND alofagia – THE TRANSITIVE ENDING

A number of intransitive verbs can be made transitive by a special ending (suffix). The form of this suffix varies and has to be learned for every verb.

INTRANSITIVE VERB	TRANSITIVE VERB
alofa love	alofagia care for someone with love
fesili ask	fesiligia question, interrogate
oso jump	osofia attack
tagi cry	tagisia cry over, ask for help
vala'au shout, call	vala'aulia call s.o. to come, invite
manatu think	manatua remember
talanoa talk	talanoaina discuss

¹ PSA [pi:sa:'a:] Public Service Association

INTRANSITIVE

E alofa le tinā i lana fānau.
v.i. noun phrase i-noun phrase
The mother loves her children.

Na fesili le fa'amasino i le pāgotā.
The judge asked the culprit.

TRANSITIVE

E alofagia e le tinā lana fānau.
v.t. e-noun phrase noun phrase
The mother takes care of her children with love.

Na fesiligia e le fa'amasino le pāgotā.
The judge interrogated the culprit.

14.3 Fa'alua 'twice', fa'atolu 'three times'

Frequentative numerals like fa'alua 'twice' express how many times someone does something or how many times something happens.

fa'afia	how many times?
fa'alua	twice
fa'atolu	three times
fa'afo	four times

The numerals are formed by the prefix fa'a and the cardinal numeral (§10.1). The action or the event is expressed by an ona clause.

Sā fa'atolu ona tatalo si toe'a'ina.
three.times that pray the poor.old.man
The poor old man prayed three times.

'Ua fa'afia ona lua ō mai 'i'inei?
how many.times that you come here
How many times have you (two) come here?

'Ua fa'aono ona mā ō mai i Sāmoa.
We have come to Samoa for the sixth time.
(lit. It has been six times that we came to Samoa.)

14.4 Fai AND faia – THE SHORT AND LONG FORMS OF TRANSITIVE VERBS

The transitive verbs have two forms, a short form and a long form, which are used in different contexts. In spoken colloquial Samoan the long form is derived from the short form by the addition of -a, whereas in formal Samoan the ending is -ina or irregular like the transitive suffixes.

Simple form	Colloquial long form	Formal long form	Meaning
'ai	'aia	'aiina	eat
fa'atau	fa'ataua	fa'atauina	buy, sell
fai	faia	faiaina	do, make
totogi	totōgia	totogiiina	pay
sasa	sasā	sasaina	smack

The long form is mainly used in three contexts:

1. when the sentence begins with the noun phrase expressing the agent (the doer of the action)
2. when the verb is preceded by a preverbal pronoun
3. when the sentence is negative.

Short form	Na fai e Pita le mea lea.	Peter did this thing.
Fronted agent	'O ai na fai a le mea lea? 'O Pita na fai a. 'O a'u na fai a.	Who did this thing? Peter did it. I did it.
Preverbal pronoun	Na 'ou fai a.	I did it.
Negative sentence	E le'i fai a e Pita. 'Ou te le'i fai a.	Peter did nt do it. I did not do it.

'Ua 'ai e le 'isumu le koko. The mouse has eaten the cocoa.
'O ai na 'aia le koko? Who ate the cocoa?

Alu Sione e fa'atau mai se suka. John go and buy some sugar.
'O ai na fa'ataua le suka? Who bought the sugar?

Na totogi e Losa le 'aitālafu. Rose paid the account.
E le'i totogia e Pita. Peter did not pay it.

The long form is also used in announcements of particular events.

'O le 'ā faia le bingo taeao. There will be bingo tomorrow.
'O le 'ā faia le siva tele i le pō o le aso Faraile. There will be a big dance on Friday night.

14.5 ‘DON’T DO IT!’ – NEGATIVE COMMANDS

Negative commands are expressed by 'aua ‘don’t’ and sōia ‘stop’. They are either followed by a nominalisation or by a verbal clause. The verbal clause has the tense particle e or te (cf. §4.3 and §7.1) or the particle ne'i (cf. §15.3).

'Aua le pisa!	Don’t make noise!
Sōia le pisa!	Stop making noise!
'Aua 'e te pisa!	Don’t make noise!
Sōia 'e te pisa!	Stop making noise!
'Aua ne'i 'e pisa!	Don’t make any noise! (Warning: Don’t you dare make any noise!)

When the verb is transitive, it must have the long form.

'Aua le totōgia le pili lea!	Don't pay this bill!
'Aua le fasia le maile!	Don't hit the dog!
'Aua le faiaina le mea lea!	Don't do this!

14.6 CONVERSATION: Fa'aaogā le telefoni 'Use the telephone'

9. Were the police called?
10. No, the telephone didn't work.

LESSON 15

15.1 SEVERAL EXPRESSIONS FOR ‘WHY? – BECAUSE...’

There are several expressions for ‘why?’. Compare:

Na 'ou alu i Apia.

I went to Apia.

'Aiseā?

Why?

E tala mai sa'u tupe.

To withdraw some money (lit. some of my money).

'O le ā le mea 'ua 'e fiafia ai?

Why are you happy? (lit. What is the thing you are happy about?)

'Ua maua la'u tupe mai Niu Sila.

I got my money from New Zealand.

'O le ā le mea e te tagi ai?

Why do you cry?

'Ua fasi a'u e le tamaititi lale.

That child over there hit me.

The word 'aiseā is mainly used in isolation without a whole sentence, although in more formal language you can hear:

'Aiseā na alu ai le tamāloa i Apia?

Why did the man go to Apia?

Note that the sentences beginning 'O le ā le mea...? Why...? and 'Aiseā...? ‘Why...?’ contain the particle ai referring back to le mea and 'aiseā.

When you want to explain the reason for something, you have the choice of several expressions. You can use the word leaga, if the reason is something bad or unpleasant. This word leaga ‘because’, which is related to leaga ‘bad’, is seldom used in written or formal language. Other expressions translating ‘because’ are 'o lea, 'auā or 'ona.

E le'i mafai ona 'ou savali i Lalomanu leaga sā timu.

I couldn't walk to Lalomanu because it was raining.

E lē mafai ona alu le fafine i Niu Sila leaga e le'i maua sona visa.

The woman cannot go to New Zealand because she hasn't got a visa.

E lē mafai ona ā'oga le tama leaga e ma'i.

The boy cannot go to school because he is sick.

Tapena le fale 'ona e ō mai mālō.

E mafai ona moe 'umi i le Aso To'ona'i 'ona e leai se galuega.

Tātou te lē ō e tā'e'ele leaga e fa'asā e le faife'au ta'elega i Aso Sā.

Na ita lo'u tinā, leaga 'ua galo iate a'u ona lafo lana tusi.¹

The word 'ona' can also be used with noun phrases, e.g. 'ona o le timu' 'because of the rain'. Note that it is combined with 'o' in this construction.

E lē mafai ona alu 'ona o le timu.

'Ua 'ou ita 'ona o lona tuai so'o.

Na mā tēte'a ma Sina 'ona o lona loto mālosi.²

While clauses with leaga and auā must always follow the main clause, you can start a sentence with 'ona' or 'ona o le...' In this case, the verb of the main clause must be followed by ai.

'Ona 'ua tuai tele lo'u pepa malaga, e lē mafai ai ona 'ou alu i Niu Sila.

'Ona 'o le tuai tele o lo'u pepa malaga e lē mafai ai ona 'ou alu i Niu Sila.

Tidy up the house because guests will come.

It is possible to sleep in on Saturday because there is no work.

We do not go swimming because the pastor forbade swimming on Sundays.

My mother was angry because I had forgotten to post her letter.

It is not possible to go because of the rain.

I am angry because he is often late. (lit. because of his being often late).

Sina and I got divorced because of her stubbornness.

Because my visa was too late, I cannot go to New Zealand.

Because my visa was too late, I cannot go to New Zealand.

15.2 'IF YOU GO TO NEW ZEALAND...' – CONDITIONAL CLAUSES

There are two kinds of if-clauses (conditional clauses). Compare:

'Āfai 'e te alu i Niu Sila, 'ou te alu fo'i.

If you go to New Zealand, I'll also go.

'Āfai 'o le tonu lenā, 'ua lelei.³

If this is the decision, it's alright.

'Āfai tou te sisiva, fai ni 'ofu mānanaia.

If you (pl.) go dancing, put on some nice clothes.

'Ana 'ou lē moe 'umi, 'ou te lē tuai i le galuega.

If I hadn't slept long, I wouldn't be late for work.

'Ana 'e pasi, 'ua faigōfie ona maua lau galuega.⁴

If you had passed (the exam), you would easily find work.

¹ galo v.i., be forgotten, cf. Exercise 1 (§15.9)

² loto mālosi n., strong will, stubbornness (< loto n., will, heart)

³ tonu n., decision

⁴ pasi v.i., pass

'Ana 'o lo'u tinā, 'ua 'ote mai iā tātou.⁵

If she were my mother, she would scold us (pl.).

You use 'āfai, when you think of a situation which might happen, but 'ana when you imagine a situation which did not or would never come true. In the spoken language 'āfai is often replaced by 'a.

'A timu taeao, 'ua lē o'o ta'a'ologa.

If it rains tomorrow, the games will be cancelled (...will not come).

The conditional clause can also follow the main clause, in which case the particle pē precedes 'āfai or 'ana.

'Ou te lē tuai pē 'ana 'ou lē moe'umi.

I would not be late for work, if I didn't sleep long.

'Ou te alu i Apia pē 'ana ē timu.

I would have gone to Apia, if it hadn't rained.

'Ou te tuai pē 'ana 'ou lē alu i le ta'avale la'u pāsese.⁶

I would have been late, if I had not gone by taxi.

15.3 'THIS SHOULD NOT HAPPEN' – THE PARTICLE ne'i

The particle ne'i expresses that something should not happen. It is the negative counterpart of 'ia (cf. §9.3.).

Va'ai le ipu, ne'i ta'e.⁷

Watch the glass, don't break it (in case it breaks).

Alu loa ne'i 'e tuai.

Go now, so that you won't be late./Go now or you will be late.

In negative commands ne'i combines with 'aua.

'Aua ne'i 'e ulavale.

Don't be naughty (sg.)!

'Aua ne'i lua ū mai.

Don't come (du.)!

'Aua ne'i tou sisiva.

Don't dance (pl.)!

15.4 'Ina CLAUSES – CONJUNCTIONS

The meaning of the conjunction 'ina depends on the context and the choice of the following particle.

'ina 'ua alu...

when (he) went...

'ina 'ia alu...

in order to go...

'ina ne'i alu...

so that (he) would not go...

⁵ 'ote v.i., scold

⁶ ta'avale la'u pāsese taxi (lit. car carrying passengers)

⁷ va'ai v.t., watch

*Na te'i le fafine 'ina 'ua va'ai i le aitu.*⁸

*Sā fiafia tele Losa 'ina 'ua feiloa'i ma lona uso.*⁹

Tatalo 'ina 'ia maua se fesoasoani.

*Fa'asusu le pepe 'ina ne'i ma'i.*¹⁰

'Aua e te alu i le ma'umaga 'ina ne'i e tuai mai i le fale.

The woman was shocked when she saw the ghost.

Losa was happy when she met her sister.

Pray in order to get some help.

Breastfeed the baby so that it won't get sick.

Don't go to the taro plantation, so that you won't come home late.

15.5 ‘AFTER’, ‘BEFORE’, ‘UNTIL’ – MORE TIME EXPRESSIONS

There are no words which directly translate the English words ‘after’ and ‘before’. To express the idea that something happened or will happen after some other event, you use the verb ‘uma ‘be finished’.

Na 'uma loa le Kilisimasi mā ō i Sini.

Se'i 'uma le fono tātou ō.

*'O ia mea 'uma na tutupu
'ae fa'ato'ā 'uma atu le afā mata'utia.*¹¹

*Na maliu lo'u tamā fa'ato'ā 'uma le Taua
Tele Lona Lua a le Lalolagi.*¹²

We went to Sydney just after Christmas.

(lit. Christmas was just finished, we went to Sydney.)

Let's go after the meeting. (lit. Let the meeting be all over, we go.)

All these things happened just after the terrible hurricane. (lit. All these things happened, but the terrible hurricane was just finished.)

My father died just after the Second World War. (lit. ...the second big war of the world was just finished.)

Accordingly you translate a sentence like ‘After we had eaten’ by ‘uma in combination with an ona clause:

Se'i 'uma ona tapena le fale, tātou 'a'ai.

Na fa'ato'ā 'uma ona fau le fale 'ae mū.

Let's eat after we have tidied up the house.

The house burnt just after it was built.

A completely different phrase is used to express that something happened a short time after something else: e le'i 'umi, ‘ae ‘shortly afterwards’ means literally ‘it was not long, but...’

⁸ te'i v.i., be shocked, surprised; aitu n., ghost, spirit

⁹ feiloa'i v.i., meet

¹⁰ fa'asusu v.t., breastfeed

¹¹ fa'ato'ā adv., just; mata'utia v.i., (be) terrible

¹² taua n., war; lalolagi n., world

E le'i 'umi, 'ae taunu'u le pasi.

Shortly afterwards the bus arrived.

*E le'i 'umi ona 'amata le fono
'ae fa'amāvae le failautusi.¹³*

Shortly after the meeting started, the secretary resigned.

Note also the following expressions which translate ‘after’ when you talk about particular times of the day.

Sau pe 'ā te'a le lima.

Come after five o’clock! (lit. Come when the five is passed!)

Na sau le tama 'ua te'a le lima.

The boy came after five o’clock. (lit. The boy came when the five was passed.)

As mentioned above, there is no word for ‘before’ in Samoan equal to an English term. When you want to say ‘Wash your hands, before you eat’ you say something like ‘Wash your hands, but you have not eaten yet’.

Fafano lima 'a 'o le'i 'ai.
wash the.hands but PROG not.yet eat
Wash your hands, before you eat.

Similarly, ‘before Christmas’ is translated by an expression which literally means ‘but Christmas hasn’t been reached yet’.

Na lafo mai le tupe, 'a 'o le'i o'o i le Kilisimasi.
PAST send hither the money but PROG not.yet reach to the Christmas
He sent the money before Christmas (lit. but Christmas was not reached yet).

E sau Fa'a'uma 'a 'o le'i o'o i le Kilisimasi. Fa'a'uma will come before Christmas.

Sau 'a 'o le'i tāina le lima. Come before five o’clock. (lit. Come it hasn't struck five yet.)

The idea of ‘until a certain event or a certain date’ is expressed by se'i o'o ‘may be reached’ or just by se'i.

'Ou te nofo i Apia, se'i o'o i le Kilisimasi. I'll stay in Apia until Christmas. (lit. may Christmas be reached).

Se'i o'o taeao.

Until tomorrow.

Fa'atali se'i toe fo'i mai lou tinā.

Wait until your mother comes back.

For ‘until a certain time of the day’, you say se'i tā... ‘may it strike...’:

Fa'atali se'i tā le lima.

Wait until five o’clock.

Another means to say ‘until something happens’ or ‘until somebody does something’, is the conjunction se'ia, which is never followed by preverbal pronouns.

13 fa'amāvae v.i., 1. part. 2. resign; failautusi n., secretary

E 'āmata atu i 'ineile savaliga, se'ia o'o i le māketi fou.

The walk goes from here to the new market.
(lit. The walk starts from here, until it reaches the new market.)

15.6 USEFUL PHRASES: Fa'amolemole... 'Please...'

There are many different ways to ask someone for a favour. Here are a few examples. Remember that you have to use respectful words (u.f.) when you ask a person of high status.

Fa'amolemole pē mafai ona 'e alu atu ma lafo atu la'u tusi?

Could you please post my letter on your way? (lit. Please, whether it is possible that you go and mail my letter?)

*Fa'amolemole pē 'e te malaga i Apia pe mafai ona 'e 'avatua la'u tusi e lafo?*¹⁴

Please, if you go to Apia, could you take my letter and post it?

*Fa'amolemole pē 'e te finagalo malie pe mafai ona 'avatu la'u tusi i Apia?*¹⁵

Please, if you don't mind, could you take my letter to Apia?

If you want to say no, you can answer:

*Malie lou loto e lē talafeagai ma lou mana'o.*¹⁶

Sorry, it is not as you wish. (lit. it is not in accordance with your wish).

Finagalo malie 'ou te lē o'o i le falemeli.

I am very sorry, I am not going to the post office.

Asking for money is not a taboo or bad manners in Samoan culture. It is usually a relative or someone that you know who will ask you. You might hear the following questions:

Fa'amolemole mātoute fia maua lava sau fesoasoani.

Please, we want to get your help.

*Fa'amolemole lava, pē 'ā 'e finagalo malie i ai pē mafai mai lava sau luasefulu tālā se'i o'u fa'aaogāina.*¹⁷

Please, if you don't mind,
may I ask you for $20?
(lit. ...could I possibly use your $20?)

*Fa'amolemole na 'ou sau pē malie lou loto,
'aumai sau tupe
se'i o'u pāsese ai i Apia.*¹⁸

Please, I have come,
if you wouldn't mind,
give me some (of your) money,
(so I may use it) for my fare to Apia.

¹⁴ 'avatua (long form of avatu) v.t., take

¹⁵ finagalo v.i.(u.f.), want; malie v.i., agree

¹⁶ talafeagai ma v.i., be in accordance with

¹⁷ pē 'ā 'ē finagalo malie i ai (u.f.), if you don't mind; fa'aaogāina long form of fa'aaogā v.t., use

¹⁸ pē malie lou loto if you don't mind; pāsese 1. n., fare, 2. v., use for paying the fare

*La'i, 'ua 'ou sulu mai i lau tōfā,
 'ia 'e alofagia lo'u mafatiaga.
 'Ua 'ou o'o mai e 'ai'oi atu pē mafai mai lava sau selau tālā se'i fai ai lo'u fa'alavelave.
 E toe totogi mai lava
 pē 'ā maua mai la'u tupe mai Niu Sila.*¹⁹

*Fa'amolemole 'aumai lava sau tupe se'i o'u alu ai i le falema'i leaga 'ua tīgā lo'u manava,
 'ae le'i maua mai se tupe
 mai lo'u atali'i i Apia.*

The following answers may help you to say no.

*Malie lou loto
 'ua te le le alofa atu,
 'ae 'ua leai ma se tupe 'o iā a'u
 i le taimi nei.*

*Finagalo malie 'ua 'ou lēlavā fa'alogo so'o atu i au 'aisiga.*²⁰

I have come to your honour, have pity with my distress,
 I have come to implore you,
 if you could lend me $100 to use for my family affairs.
 It will be paid back when I get my money from New Zealand.

Please give me some money,
 so that I could go to the hospital,
 because my stomach aches,
 but I haven't got any money from my son in Apia.

I am sorry,
 I really pity you,
 but I haven't got any money with me at the moment.

Please, I am tired of always hearing you beg for something.

15.7 CONVERSATION: 'Ua pisi tele le 'auala 'The road is too busy'

'Ua leva ona 'e sau?

Have you been here long?

*E leai, pē 'ua lima nei mīnute.*²¹

No, about five minutes now.

*Pisi tele le 'auala i le tele o ta'avale feoa'i.*²²

The road is too busy with so many cars travelling.

*E sili ai le vave sau 'ae le'i pisi tele le 'auala*²³

It's better to come early before the road gets very busy.

*E sili ai le pu'e o le pasi.*²⁴

It's best to catch the bus.

*'Ae ātili ai ona 'e tuai i le tū so'o o le pasi.*²⁵

But you will come even later when the bus is always stopping.

E sa'o ai 'oe.

You are right.

*Lona uiga e tatau lava ona 'ou vave usu mai.*²⁶ That means, I have to come early.

¹⁹ sulu v.i., take refuge to; alofagia v.t., treat with caring love; mafatiaga n., distress; 'ai'oi v.i., implore; fa'alavelave n., family affairs like funerals or weddings; accident, trouble

²⁰ lēlavā v.t., be exhausted, be tired of; 'aisiga n., begging, asking

'Āmene.*

Our Father, who art in heaven hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come,
thy will be done
on earth,
as it is in heaven.
Give us this day
our daily bread, and forgive us
our trespasses as we forgive
those who trespass against us.
Lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom,
the power, and the glory forever and ever.
Amen.

16.2 AN ADVERTISEMENT FOR FAMILY PLANNING

This advertisement, which was frequently published in Samoan newspapers in 1993 and 1994, is written without glottal stops and without the indication of vowel length. Use the vocabulary to fully understand each word. Our translation is not idiomatic English, but imitates the Samoan way of expression.

*Iafuafua leleile faitaua o tagata ina ia talafeagai ma lou tamaoaiga.
O le fuafuaina lelei o aiga
o se auala aupito sili mo se fesoasoani mo oe.*

Plan well the number of people to match with your wealth.
Good family planning is the very best way to show your love to your children, you and your family.

1. Plan well how many children you should have so that you can care well (for them).

2. Good planning is to space the children (lit. the being born of the children)
so that they get a healthy body and a happy life.

3. Good planning is to help the mother to regain full strength of her reproductive system (lit. give the whole of her birth organs) for a new pregnancy.

Visit now the Family Planning in Motootua or any hospital in the villages in the outback for some help for you.

16.3 AN ADVERTISEMENT FOR HARDWARE

This advertisement contains a few, but not all, glottal stops.

apa ato fale ma taualuga.
Pa'u tele tau,
e fetau lelei ma lou mana'o.
Tala a'ao mai!
Esili le va'ai, e malie ai!*

Remember!
We have all sorts of building materials,
such as nails of any kind,
metal roofing sheets and roofs.
The prices have really dropped,
to really suit your needs.
Come!
It is best to have a look and be satisfied!
