DID YOU KNOW THAT?

- That a bit less than half the students at the ANU come from outside Canberra and Queanbeyan.
- That hardly a week goes by without a conference being held at the ANU.
- That Professor A D Hope, Australia's greatest poet of the mid-20th Century period, was Professor of English at the ANU.
- The National Library of Australia has around 5 million books and that the ANU collection includes another 1.8 million.
- That Fenner Hall is named after the ANU's Professor Frank Fenner who developed the Myxomatosis virus to combat the rabbit plague and then went on to head the World Health Organisation campaign which rid the world of small pox.
- That the ANU has more members of the learned academies than any other Australian University.
- That the man who shared the Nobel Prize for the discovery of penicillin, Sir Howard Florey (on the $50 note), was the founding Director of the ANU's John Curtin School of Medical Research and for a while held the post of Chancellor.
