EXPLANATORY NOTES

As this thesis is a comparative study of the development of the regional organisations of the EU, NAFTA and APEC, it relies heavily on the primary documentation associated with the development of these institutions, secondary source commentaries and interviews with officials and academics involved in the development of these regional organisations. Since the literatures for each regional organisation are largely discrete, for ease of reference each case study has its own bibliography. Although the theoretical literature reviewed in this thesis is also extensive and falls into two more or less distinct time periods - the 1950s and 1960s are covered in Chapter Two, and the 1970s and 1980s in Chapter Three, there is a considerable amount of cross-referencing. In order to obviate any unnecessary duplication the bibliographies for these two chapters have been combined. The bibliographies for the Introduction (Chapter One) and the Conclusion (Chapter Nine) have also been combined.
