INDEX OF OCCUPATIONS

WITH

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE OF INDEX

The occupational code has been arranged so that occupational descriptions given on Census Schedules can be coded strictly as given by the persons supplying the information. It is the aim of the Statisticians to "record" as far as possible the information in the form in which it is given. In coding occupation, an attempt is to be made by the coder to use evidence contained elsewhere on the Census Schedule to interpret what the person "meant" to write.

The following rules are to be observed in coding occupation from the alphabetical index. These rules are to be followed rigidly and any cases in which the rules conflict or appear to lead to absurd results are to be referred to the section leader.

1. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

1. Occupational term. An occupational term is a noun which describes the nature of work which a person performs. Most occupational terms end in -or (miner), -ist (alterationist) or -man (fisherman). There are, however, a number of exceptions to this general rule such as nurse, matron, servant, steward, surgeon, shepherd.

Note: The plural of an occupational term is not an occupational term but generally an industry description. For example "printers", "alterationists", "fishermen". If it is necessary that such words be used in coding, they are to be coded as shown in the index, or, if they do not appear in the index, are to be coded 000. See instruction 77(j).

2. Participial form. Occupational terms are frequently written in the participial form ending in -ing, for example "mining", "nursing". In general words ending in -ing are to be treated as occupational terms except where they are used as an adjective - for example "mining engineer". In most cases only the noun form is printed in the index.

3. See words. Occupational descriptions which appear in the index are of two types -

- (1) Key words - commence with a small letter against the margin. Such words are the essential part of lengthy occupational descriptions. For example in the description "Agricultural machinery fitter", "fitter" is the key-word.

- (2) Head descriptions - commence with a capital letter and are listed four spaces.

4. One-word occupational descriptions. Where the occupational description contains only one word, look according to that word whether it appears in the index as an exact description or a key-word.

5. Two or more word occupational descriptions

- (1) Where one of the words used is

Acting	Father's	Mid-day
Chief	General	Other's
Chief	Half-time	Part-time
Consulting	Head	Sub-
Self-paid	Jobbing	Temporary
Director	Junior	Overemployed

each word may be ignored and the description treated as though the word were not included.

- (2) Where the description actually used on the schedule appears in the index as an exact description, code to the number given in the index. If it does not appear as an exact description, look to the index and see if one of the words used appears as a key-word and code according to that word.

- (3) Selection of key-word. If it is necessary to code according to a key-word, the following rules are to be followed in choosing which word of the actual description used is to be first sought in the index.

- (a) If any word in the description is an occupational term look first for it.
For example in "Agricultural machinery fitter", "fitter" is the only occupational term.
- (b) If two or more words in the description are occupational terms look first for the word first appearing.

For example in "Fitter and driller" or "Fitter, driller", look first for "fitter".

- (c) If any word in the description is the participial form of an occupational term look first for it if there is no other occupational term in the description.

For example in "Agricultural machinery fitting" look first for "fitter" (fitting). But in "Fitting, driller", look first for "driller".

- (d) If there is neither an occupational term nor a participial form in the description, look in the index for any other word used, selecting as far as possible the main word.

For example in "Employed on pig farm" look first for "farm".

If, however, the key-word selected is coded to 900, code in preference to any other word in the description which is indexed as a key-word.

For example in "Employed on pig farm", "employed" is in the index as a key-word coded to 900, and therefore "farm" (coded to 600) should be selected.

6. Main and Subsidiary Key-words. A number of main key-words are printed in the index without a code opposite but with subsidiary key-words listed below commencing with a small letter and inset ten spaces.

If the description used on the schedule requires the use of such a main key-word, code in accordance with the subsidiary key-word (if any) which appears in the description used.

If none of the subsidiary key-words listed under the main key-word appears in the description, code to the number given against "all other" at the foot of the list of subsidiary key-words.

If only a main key-word (or a main key-word and one of the words listed in (5)) as to be ignored, appears in the description used, code to "as described" if "as described" appears in the list of subsidiary key words, and to "all other" if "as described" does not appear.

For example, in each of the descriptions "Petrol tank driver", "Stationary engine driver", "Driver" and "Casual driver", "driver" is the key-word to be selected since it is an occupational term. But reference to the index shows that "driver" is a main key-word listed under this main key-word is the subsidiary key-word, "petrol tank" (code 620) and "Petrol tank driver" should therefore be coded 620. On the other hand "Stationary engine driver" neither "stationary" nor "engine" are listed as subsidiary key-words and hence the description should be coded to "all other" code 99. "Driver" and "Casual driver" should both be coded to "as described" code 92.

Note that under the main key-word "driver", "motor" is listed as a subsidiary key-word only where it appears as the first word of the description. This is necessary to distinguish such descriptions as "Motor delivery driver" (to be coded 620) and "Wind motor driver" (to be coded 99). The first description refers to a transport driver and the second to a stationary engine driver.

7. Key word followed by initials in the index. If a key word appears in the index followed by (a.b.c.), do not use for coding unless neither the description as a whole appears in the index as an exact description nor any other word in it appears as a key-word which is coded to some code other than 900.

8. As described. Where a description in the index is followed by the words (as described), or the words "as described" appear in a list of subsidiary key-words, code to that number only descriptions used in the schedule which contain only that word or words (or that word or words together with one of the words listed in 5(1)) so as to be ignored. See also Inst. 6 for "as described" listed under a main key-word.

9. Order of words. Exact descriptions generally appear in the index in the natural order but if the order shown on the schedule does not appear in the index look for the words in different order.

For example if the description "Shearer, sheep" appears in the schedule look under "Sheep shearer".

10. Not carefully recorded grades of occupation. In all cases where grade of occupation shown in answer to question 13(1) on the schedule is

C.	900	E.	940	F.	950
G.	920	H.	960	L.	970
I.	930

code to the number shown against each irrespective of what may be written in answer to the occupation question.

11. Descriptions not in index. If the occupational description used in the schedule does not appear in the index and no word in it appears as a key-word in the index, refer to the section leader guide:

- (1) the description consists only of the name of a product such as "Leather", "Boots", "Clothing", "Shoes";
 - (2) the description consists of the name of a firm such as "A.B. Pty.", "Australian Glass Manufacturers", "Smith and Jones Pty. Ltd."; or
 - (3) the description contains the plural of an occupational term (Inst. 7).
- In each of these cases the description should be coded 900.

Do not attempt to infer occupation from the answer to the industry question or any other part of the schedule.

12. SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS.

The following special instructions are to be applied irrespective of the general instructions given above. These instructions relate to the following words which should be omitted and used in coding only in accordance with the special instructions.

old	teleg	waitress
apprentice	tailor	official
assistant	tailor-up	offender
builder	journeyman	overseer
business	journeywoman	proprietor
civil servant	labourer	proprietress
civil service	maker	public servant
domestic	manager	public service
employer	manageress	striker
firmness	managing	superintendent
forelady	manufacturer	superintending foreman	mate	supervision
forewoman	monitor	supervisor

Inst. 1. The following are to be used as key-words in two or more word occupational descriptions only if the balance of the description cannot be coded to some number other than 900.

apprentice	320	journeyman	300	public servant	320
civil servant	320	journeywoman	300	public service	320
civil service	320	manager	200	superintendent	300
domestic	400	managress	200	superior	300
foreignly	300	managing	200	supervision	300
foreman	300	official	300	supervisor	300
freeman	300	steward	300

If it is necessary to use them as abbreviations or if the description used incomplete of one of these words only, the code to be used is shown beside each.

Rule 2. Descriptions in which it is necessary to use one of the words:

business	manufacturer	proprietress
employer	proprietor

as a modifier are to be coded to 200 if the grade of occupation is E or O, otherwise code to 300.

Rule 3. Descriptions using the following words:

aid	colporteur	offender
help	laborer	striker
helper	mate

are to be coded according to the general rules unless the word appears in the schedule following the precessive case of an occupational term. For example "Builder's laborer", "Blacksmith's striker", "Teacher's colporteur".

- (a) If the exact words (including any listed under §(1) as to be ignored) appear in the index, code to the number shown in the index.

- (b) If the occupational term which these words follow is blacksmith	400	engineer	400	plaster	400

builder	400	fitter	400	plasterer	400
bricklayer	400	glasser	400	plumber	400
builder	400	ironworker	400	steelmaker	400
carpenter	400	millwright	400	tailor	400
electrician	400

the code to be used is shown beside each.

- (c) If the occupational term (other than those listed under (b)) which these words follow is itself coded to a number commencing with 5 or 6, the whole description is then coded to 400.
- (d) In all other cases code to the number shown in the index for the occupational term which these words follow.

Rule 4. Descriptions using the word

assistant are to be coded as follows -

- (a) If the exact words (including any listed under §(1) as to be ignored) appear in the index, code to the number shown in the index.
- (b) If "assistant" follows the precessive case of an occupational term code as in §(1) j.
- (c) If only the one word "assistant" (or "assistants") and one of the words listed in §(1) or to be ignored appears in the description and, code to 300.
- (d) In all other cases the word "assistant" may be ignored and the description treated as though the word were not included.

Rule 5. Descriptions using the words

builder 400 maker 400

either as a separate word or as the last part of one word (for example "Best builder", "Bestmaker") are to be coded to the number shown above unless indexed elsewhere. If only the one word "Builder" or "Maker" appears, code to 200 if the grade of occupation is E or O. For other grades of occupation code to the numbers shown above.

Rule 6. Descriptions using the word

fireman

are to be coded to 400 in all cases where the industry code is 734. In other cases code as shown in the index.

Rule 7. Descriptions using the words

master waitress

are to be coded to 400 in all cases where the industry code is 734. In other cases code to 400.

INDEX OF INDUSTRIES

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

INTRODUCTION.

In order to obtain accurate statistical analysis of the economic and social structure of the community, the occupied population must be classified in at least two ways, according to two distinct concepts -

- (i) The industry, trade or organized service of which each person forms a unit;
- (ii) The individual occupation or function of the person within the industry through which his services are rendered.

The distinction between the terms industry and occupation is not always sufficiently appreciated, and frequently the terms are used as if they were synonymous. In view of the importance of a clear understanding of these terms in their relation to the classification of the population in its working capacity, it is desirable to define the terms so that they are clear for statistical purposes -

Industry is defined as any single branch of productive activity, trade or service. It is concerned with the activities of persons, firms or businesses engaged in a trade producing the same commodity, performing the same process or providing the same service. All persons engaged in any such sphere of economic activity are classified industrially as belonging to the particular branch in question irrespective of their personal occupation within the industry. Examples: Building, Coal Manufacture, Solid Mining, Poultry-raising, Baking.

Occupation is defined as the nature of the work which a person performs, and implies personal performance. It may be based on the material treated, the process carried out or the type of service rendered by an individual worker. Examples: Carpenter, Steward, Stevedore, Builder, Surgeon.

The distinction between the two concepts can further be sharpened by keeping in mind certain important objects in classifying the occupied population -

- (i) One of the objects of classification by industry is to show the absolute and relative importance of the various branches of industry. For that purpose a person's industrial classification is determined by reference to the business, trade, profession or service in which, or for the purpose of which, his occupation is followed. It is clear that consideration of the individual's personal occupation has no direct bearing on the classification by industry. In certain circumstances, nevertheless, knowledge of a person's occupation may help to define the industry in which he is engaged.
- (ii) The main object of classification by occupation is to secure a clearly defined appreciation of the particular functions which a person performs. For that purpose the occupational classification of the person is determined by reference either to the processes carried out, the nature of the personal qualifications or skill required, or, in the case of occupations not concerned with the making of material products, the type of service rendered. The nature of the branch of productive activity in which he is engaged, and its organization into groups of firms and businesses, has no direct bearing on the occupational classification.

INDUSTRY

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE OF 1961.

The industry code has been arranged so that, in general, industry descriptions given on Census Schedules can be coded strictly as given by the person supplying the information. In some cases, however, it will be necessary to define industry more closely by using evidence contained elsewhere on the Census Schedule. Such evidence should appear in the section under reference in the section leader.

A. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

1. Basic descriptions. If the description used on the Schedule does not appear in the Index refer to the section leader except -

- (a) if the last word of a description is one of making	manufacturing

manufacture	factory

and a description in the Index ends any other of these words it may be coded to the number shown against that description in the Index.

For example code "Cheese manufacture" and "Cheese factory" to "Cheese making" code.

- (b) if the last word of a description is repairs	repairing	making

---------	-----------	--------

each word may be read as "making"

And

Boat and stove repairing	263
Cycle repairing	699
Motor repairs	551

are to be coded to the number shown against each.

- (c) if the last word of a description is maintenance

each word may be read as "making", "manufacturing" or "construction".

For example code "Harbour maintenance" to "Harbour construction" code.

(d) If the words used in the description appear in the index in a different order code to the number shown against that description.

For example, if the description "Baking butter" appears in the schedule look under "Butter making".

(e) If the description used on the schedule contains two or more types of industry look in the index for the description first appearing.

For example, if the description "Diel grazing and cartage service" appears in the schedule code to "Diel grazing".

2. If two or more types of agriculture, grazing or dairying appear in the schedule, code to 021 unless two or more types of grazing only appear, in which case code to 040.

For example "Banana and vegetable growing", "Wheat and pig farming", "Diel grazing and grazing" are to be coded 021. But "Cattle and sheep grazing" is to be coded 040.

3. Not satisfactorily recorded grades of occupation. In all cases where grade of occupation shown on question 13(1) on the schedule is code to 900 irrespective of what may be written in answer to the industry question.

C	B	F
S.S.	S.S.	S
I

4. "Grade E or G" and "Last Grade E or G". Descriptions in the index followed by (Grade E or G) are to be coded to the number shown only if grade of occupation is E or G.

Descriptions in the index followed by (not Grade E or G) are to be coded to the number shown only if grade of occupation is W, U, S.S. or R.

In all other cases refer to section leader.

2. INDEX INSTRUCTIONS

(See Instructions) Descriptions in the index followed by (see instructions) are to be coded as follows. In each case reference must be made to the number to the occupation question, and, in any case of doubt as to whether an occupation is of the type described, refer to the section leader.
