1988 HOUSING SURVEY

EXPLANATORY NOTES

1. In the period February to May 1988 a housing survey was conducted throughout Australia to collect information on a number of distinct topics relating to housing. These topics were:

- dwelling characteristics;
- nature of occupancy, housing costs and financial arrangements;
- moving expectations;
- previous housing arrangements;
- ownership of other residential properties.

In addition, demographic and other characteristics of the occupants, such as age, sex, marital status, etc were also collected, as was income.

2. Data in this publication relate to housing arrangements in the five year period preceding date of interview (Tables 1 to 17) and to moving expectations in the five years following interview (Tables 18 to 27).

3. Data on previous housing arrangements were collected only in respect of the last (ie before current) and second last dwelling, irrespective of how many dwellings an income unit may have lived in over the previous five years. The data include:

- location of dwelling;
- type of dwelling;
- household composition at dwelling;
- nature of occupancy/type of landlord at dwelling;
- main reason for moving from dwelling.

4. Data on moving expectations include:

- main reason for expected move;
- expected nature of occupancy;
- expected location;
- type of action taken toward expected move.

Scope

5. The survey covered both rural and urban areas in all States and Territories, and was based on a multi-stage area sample of private dwellings (approximately 26,400). Private dwellings include houses, flats, home units, garages, tents and any other structures used for private residence at the time of the survey. Caravans in caravan parks were not included.

6. The survey included all persons aged 15 and over except:

- (a) certain diplomatic personnel of overseas governments who are customarily excluded from the census and estimated resident population counts;
- (b) overseas residents in Australia; and
- (c) members of non-Australian defence forces (and their dependants) stationed in Australia.

Individual information was not collected from persons aged 15-20 years who were attending school full-time at the time of interview.

Data Collection Method

7. Personal interview with each resident aged 15 or over in the selected dwelling was used to collect information on previous housing arrangements. The following exceptions, however, are to be noted:

- (a) to avoid unnecessary repetition, where persons married at the time of interview had been living with the current spouse/partner for the previous five years, information relating to previous housing arrangements was obtained from only one person;
- (b) persons who were living with their parents or other relatives (and did not have a spouse or partner living in the same household) were not asked any questions relating to previous housing arrangements if they had been a member of that household for the previous five years.

Information relating to moving expectations, however, was asked only in respect of each income unit. Trained interviewers collected all survey information.

Reliability of the estimates

8. The estimates in this series of tables are subject to two types of error.

Sampling error

9. This is the difference which would be expected between the estimate and the corresponding figure that would have been obtained from a collection based on the whole population, using the same questionnaire and procedures. Details of sampling error are available on request.

Non sampling error

10. These errors can occur whether the estimates arise from a sample or a complete enumeration, and are usually referred to as non-sampling error. Three major sources of non-sampling error are:

- (a) inability to obtain comprehensive data from all persons in the sample. These errors arise because of differences which exist between the characteristics of respondents and non-respondents;

(b) errors in reporting on the part of both respondents and interviewers. These reporting errors may arise through inappropriate wording of questions, misunderstanding of what data are required, inability or unwillingness to provide accurate information and mistakes in answers to questions; and

(c) errors arising during processing of survey data. These errors result from errors in coding and data recording.

11. Non-sampling errors are difficult to measure in any collection. However, every effort was made to minimise these errors. In particular, the effect of reporting and processing errors described above was minimised by careful questionnaire design, intensive training and supervision of interviewers and extensive editing and quality control checking at all stages of data processing.

Interpretation of results

12. The following cases should be noted when analysing the data in this publication.

Previous housing arrangements

13. Details on household composition and nature of occupancy for previous dwellings relate to "at time of move". For example, a person who lived alone for some period in their last dwelling, but married (and lived with spouse) prior to moving would be regarded as married in their last dwelling.

14. As indicated in paragraph 7(a), persons who had lived continuously with their parents/other relatives in the five years preceding the interview were not asked questions on previous housing arrangements. These persons have been included in Table 1 as having had no previous dwelling, but excluded from all other tables on previous housing arrangements (Tables 2 to 17).

15. Persons whose last/second last dwelling was located overseas or was classified as a special dwelling, and persons with no fixed address at the time of interview have been included in Tables 1 but excluded from Tables 2 to 17.

16. Persons whose household composition at the last and second last dwellings was "lived with parents/other relatives only" were not asked details on nature of occupancy/type of landlord and main reason for moving in respect of those dwellings (Tables 6 to 13).

17. For ease of presentation, persons married at time of interview have been divided into two groups:

(a) those married persons who had lived together in the five years preceding interview. In these cases, only one spouse/partner was asked questions on previous housing arrangements, and therefore only the reference person (generally the husband) is counted (Tables 2, 7, 10 and 14);

(b) those married persons who had not lived together for the five years preceding interview. In these cases, each spouse/partner was asked questions on previous housing arrangements, and therefore each is counted separately (Tables 3, 7, 11 and 15).

18. In the collection of the data, the following classifications were used to reflect household composition in the last and second last dwellings:

- . exactly the same as in "current" dwelling
- . lived alone
- . lived with present spouse/partner only
- . lived with present spouse/partner and children (of any age) only
- . lived with parents/other relatives only
- . lived with non-relatives only
- . other (includes lived with former spouse/partner).

Classifications of household composition used in the tables are based on the above.

Moving expectations

19. Information on moving expectations was obtained from all income units within the scope of the survey (including those living with parents or relatives). However, income units whose main reason for the expected move was given as 'compulsory transfer/posting' were not asked details of expected nature of occupancy, expected location, or type of action taken to move.

20. In addition, income units whose expected nature of occupancy was other than buyer or renter were not asked details of expected location, type of dwelling or type of action taken. These income units have been excluded from Tables 23 to 25.
