Explanatory NotesIntroduction

This publication provides a summary of the most recent population, births, and deaths statistics available for small areas in Queensland. Statistics for earlier years are also included to enable recent trends to be examined.

Local authority areas are the basic units of geographical classification used in this publication. For statistical purposes these areas are aggregated into larger regions, namely statistical divisions and districts. Certain local authority areas within the Brisbane Statistical Division have been dissected further to enable data to be presented for suburbs and localities, and for "ring and sector" groupings (defined below).

Most of the statistical series presented in this publication were formerly published in "Demography, Queensland" which was discontinued after the 1982 Issue.

Definitions

Estimated resident populations at 30 June are based on the 1976 and 1981 Censuses of Population and Housing counts adjusted for under-enumeration and the estimated number of residents temporarily overseas. The figures for 1981 to 1983 have been shown in Table 2 for the convenience of calculating crude birth and death rates.

The statistics shown for births and deaths relate to usual residents of Queensland, regardless of where in Australia the event occurred. Births and still births have been allocated to the local authority area in which the mother's usual residence was located and deaths have been allocated to the local authority area in which the deceased's place of usual residence was located. It should be noted that in the previous publications for Queensland (providing data for years prior to 1983), births and deaths statistics were compiled on a State of registration basis, hence births and deaths of Queensland residents which occurred interstate were excluded, but births and deaths of interstate visitors which occurred in Queensland were included.

The births and deaths statistics represent events registered during the calendar years shown. Because of delays in registration, some births and deaths occurring in one year are not registered until the following year or even later. Recent experience shows that 93 per cent of births and 94 per cent of deaths registered in a particular year also occurred in that year.

Births. For statistics in this publication, the term birth relates, unless otherwise stated, to a live birth, i.e. a child, irrespective of the duration of pregnancy, which, after expulsion or extraction from its mother, showed signs of a heartbeat.

Nuptiality. Live births are identified as nuptial where the father registered was married to the mother at the time of the birth, or where the husband died during the pregnancy. Children of Aboriginal mothers considered to be tribally married are classified as nuptial. All other births are classified as ex-nuptial whether or not the parents were living together at the time of the birth and whether or not the child may subsequently have been legitimated or adopted.

Infant deaths represent the deaths of children aged less than 1 year.

A still birth is recorded in respect of any child whose heart did not beat after its complete expulsion or extraction from its mother, and who weighed at least 500 grams at delivery or, if birthweight was not recorded, was of at least 22 weeks gestation.

Geographic Areas

Statistical districts have been defined around selected urban centres with a population of 25,000 or more, experiencing urban growth beyond the local authority boundaries. The districts are intended to contain the anticipated spread of the urban centre and associated contiguous small urban centres over the next 20 years. There are currently seven statistical districts in Queensland, centred around Bundaberg, Cairns, Gold Coast, Mackay, Rockhampton, Sunshine Coast, and Townsville.

Rings and sectors have been designed to provide for broader areas than suburbs of Brisbane City and the surrounding localities within the Brisbane Statistical Division. A map delineating those areas and a listing of the suburbs and areas within each ring and sector are included on pages 23 and 24.

Tables 1 and 2 include estimated resident population figures at 30 June for rings and sectors within the Brisbane Statistical Division. This is the first time that intercensal estimates have been prepared for areas in Queensland smaller than local authority areas.

Boundary changes. Population estimates for the years 1976 to 1981 are based on local authority boundaries as determined at 30 June 1981. Adjustments for boundary changes have not been made to the population estimates or births and deaths figures for the years since 1981. Details of the nature and extent of boundary changes since 1 July 1981 are given on page 3.
