COMMONWEALTH BUREAU OF CENSUS AND STATISTICS

AUSTRALIA

The Australian Commonwealth, which includes the island continent of Australia and the island of Tasmania, is situated in the Southern Hemisphere, and comprises an area of 2,967,909 square miles, almost as large as the United States of America excluding Alaska.

Bounded on the west and east by the Indian and Pacific Oceans respectively, it lies between longitudes 113° 9′ E. and 153° 39′ E., while its northern and southern limits are the parallels of latitude 10° 41′ S. and 43° 39′ S.

On its north are the Timor and Arafura Seas and Torres Strait, on its south the Southern Ocean. The extreme points are Steep Point on the west, Cape Byron on the east, Cape York on the north, and South-East Cape on the south.

The difference in latitude between its extreme north and south points is about 2,300 miles and in longitude between its extreme east and west points about 2,500 miles.

See Table 1, page 68, for years of formation of the Colonies and the Commonwealth, areas of the States and Territories, standard times, etc., and page 251 for major historical events.

The extremes of temperature and rainfall are taken from he records of both sites.

7.—AUSTRALIAN PARLIAMENTS.

The Legislature of the Commonwealth and of each State except Queensland is bicameral, consisting of an Upper and a Lower House. In Queensland the Upper House was abolished in 1922. In the Commonwealth Parliament the Upper House is known as the Senate and the Lower as the House of Representatives; in the bicameral States the Upper House is known as the Legislative Council and the Lower House, in New South Wales, Victoria, and Western Australia, as the Legislative Assembly (which is also the name of the Queensland Parliament) and, in South Australia and Tasmania, as the House of Assembly.

Adult suffrage for British subjects with the necessary residential qualifications prevails in respect of both Commonwealth Houses and the State Lower Houses. Voting is compulsory. A British subject member of the Defence Forces of the Commonwealth on service outside Australia is entitled to vote at Commonwealth elections whether enrolled or not, if he has lived in Australia for six months continuously.* Some property or special qualification is required for electors for the Legislative Councils in South Australia and Tasmania. In New South Wales the Council is elected by members of both Houses at simultaneous sittings, and in Victoria and Western Australia adult suffrage operates.

Membership of both Commonwealth Houses is open to adult British subjects with three years' residence in Australia and qualified as electors. In the State Lower Houses the requirements for membership are similar, but with varying periods of residence. For membership of the State Upper Houses in some States a candidate must have, as well as more general qualifications, a minimum age of 25 or 30 years.

NOTE.—"Classified Roads" refer to roads proclaimed or declared by Act for which the central road authority concerned assumed responsibility for part or the whole of the cost of construction and/or maintenance. Included under this heading are State highways, trunk roads and ordinary main roads, comprising about 47 per cent. of the total classified mileage for Australia, and secondary developmental, tourist, etc., roads, comprising about 53 per cent. These classifications do not apply to the two Commonwealth territories.

"Total Roads" are estimates of all roads and tracks used for general traffic, about 40 per cent. of which are constructed, the remainder being formed or natural surface only. The sources for this information are, in the main, local government authorities.

POPULATION OF PRINCIPAL URBAN CENTRES

In previous censuses 'metropolitan' and 'other urban' boundaries were delineated without common criteria, but for the 1966 Census a new uniform concept of 'urban' based on a minimum population density of 500 persons per square mile was introduced. Other new criteria concern land use, continuity of dwellings, enclaves, and unoccupied dwellings in holiday areas.

Briefly the new criteria are as follows.

1. Population clusters of 1,000 or more persons having a minimum density of 500 persons per square mile shall be designated urban. This density shall be determined for each census collector's district (the smallest geographical area available). Additionally, some areas of lower population and/or density shall be classified as urban on other grounds (e.g. holiday areas, industrial areas).

2. Around each principal urban centre with a population of 75,000 or more two boundaries shall be drawn. The outer boundaries shall circumscribe the area which is expected to be in close economic and social contact with the principal urban centre for the next two or three decades. These areas shall be designated STATISTICAL DIVISIONS (for State capital cities) or STATISTICAL DISTRICTS (for Canberra, Newcastle, Wollongong, and Geelong). The inner boundary shall delimit the principal urban centre itself. It shall be a moving boundary, which from Census to Census, as urbanisation proceeds, will move outwards to encompass peripheral development. For capital cities, the principal urban centre encompassed by the inner boundary shall be designated the METROPOLITAN AREA.

3. Urban centres of less than 75,000 population shall be described by name as URBAN .....

For urban centres not yet delimited by the new criteria, the following procedure was used.

Urban centres were intensively examined on the most recent aerial photographs available and the boundaries set as closely as possible to the periphery of the built-up area without regard to local government boundaries. The greater availability of recent aerial photographs in 1966 than in 1961 enabled more meaningful boundaries to be delineated for many small urban centres.
