EXPLANATORY NOTES

This bulletin contains particulars of capital raised by listed companies in Australia up to the March quarter 1973 and by unlisted Australian companies up to the September quarter 1972. Revisions have been made to some of the figures previously published.

2. In general, in the case of listed companies, these statistics cover capital raised through share and debenture subscriptions and by way of deposits, unsecured notes and loans secured over the entire assets of the company and, in the case of unlisted companies, these statistics cover capital raised through share subscriptions and by way of loans secured over the entire assets of the company. However, except for share subscriptions, all capital raised from Australian banks (e.g. by way of bank overdraft, mortgage loans, term loans, or debentures) is excluded. Also excluded are temporary advances from any source.
3. Separate statistics are given for listed and unlisted companies. Listed companies are companies incorporated in Australia, or Papua and New Guinea, whose shares, debentures, or other securities are listed on one or more of the Australian Stock Exchanges. All other companies incorporated in Australia (excluding its overseas territories), including subsidiaries of listed companies, are classified as unlisted companies. Companies incorporated overseas, whether listed on an Australian Stock Exchange or not, are excluded from the statistics of share issues. However, Australian subsidiaries of overseas companies are included. The statistics of new capital raised by way of debentures, notes, etc., include, in addition to capital raised by Australian companies, capital raised in this way from Australian sources by overseas public companies through their Australian offices. Issues by Australian companies on overseas capital markets are excluded. Where an issue is made at the same time on Australian and overseas markets, that part of the issue which is taken up through overseas brokers is excluded. Where a company has any of its ordinary shares listed on one or more of the Australian Stock Exchanges, all its issues of ordinary shares, but not necessarily its issues of preference shares, are treated as listed. If a company has any of its preference shares listed, all its issues of preference shares are treated as listed. If a company has any of its ordinary shares, preference shares or debentures, etc., listed, all its issues of debentures and unsecured notes and all its unsecured or wholly secured loans and its deposits accepted are treated as listed.
4. Seasonally adjusted estimates of new money raised by listed companies are shown in Table 1 of this issue. Seasonal adjustment does not remove the irregular fluctuations to which this series is particularly subject and which appear to have been unusually large in recent quarters. Consequently, particular care should be exercised in interpreting quarter to quarter movements. In addition, it is inherent in the seasonal adjustment methods used that the sum of the seasonally adjusted and the sum of the original series for the corresponding annual period may differ somewhat and can be expected to differ markedly in circumstances of rapidly changing trend and seasonal pattern of the kind to which this particular series is currently subject. Details of the methods used in seasonally adjusting this and other series are given in Seasonally Adjusted Indicators 1973 (Reference No. 1.10).
5. The following notes relate to specific items in the tables.

New Money. This is the net amount of cash transferred from the "investing public" to the "company sector". For this purpose the "investing public" is defined to include all non-company subscribers, Australian life insurance companies and Australian government and private superannuation funds. In practice, it is necessary to include in "new money" most subscriptions by companies holding less than five per cent of the ordinary shares of an issuing company as it is not practicable to separately identify all such subscriptions. However, where large subscriptions by companies holding less than five per cent of the ordinary shares in the issuing company are identified they are not included in "new money". Prior to September quarter 1970 all subscriptions by associated companies (companies which owned five per cent or more of the ordinary shares of the issuing company) whether local or overseas, were excluded from "new money". From the September quarter 1970 subscriptions by Australian life insurance companies and Australian government and private superannuation funds are included in "new money" irrespective of their holdings of ordinary shares in the issuing company. In addition, prior to the September quarter 1970, subscriptions by overseas banks, life insurance companies and superannuation funds holding less than five per cent of the ordinary shares of the issuing company were included in "new money" whereas from September quarter 1970 such amounts have been excluded. These changes as from September quarter 1970 have not caused any significant break in comparability of the statistical series.

Amount not involving new money. This amount includes cash subscriptions received by issuing companies from associated companies. Such subscriptions represent intercompany transfers only and do not involve a receipt of funds from the "investing public". Also included are amounts which, although subscribed by the "investing public" (i.e. subscribers other than "associated companies") are not retained by the issuing company or its associates, but are used to redeem shares, debentures or unsecured notes, etc., or are used to purchase, from individuals, existing shares, debentures, etc., in other companies, including existing shares, etc., in associated and subsidiary companies. The funds used in this way are thus returned to another section of the "investing public" and do not represent a net transfer of cash from the "investing public" to the companies. (Besides these purchases of existing shares, etc., from individuals, purchases of existing shares, etc., from companies other than associates of the issuing company, might also be included in this item, but the amounts involved are small and separate details have not been collected.) In the tables which follow, the "amount not involving new money" is obtained by deducting from the total cash raised the amount of "new money".

Number and total amount of issues commenced. An issue of shares or other securities is included in the period in which funds were first subscribed to the relevant issue or, in the case of issues for consideration other than cash, in the period in which the allotment of shares commenced.

Issues for consideration other than cash. Shares issued for a consideration other than cash include bonus issues, conversion issues (including conversion of debentures, notes, etc., to shares), issues in exchange for shares in other companies, shares issued to a vendor, etc. Where the issue involves a cash payment by the subscribers to the issuing company and a simultaneous cash payment of similar amount to the subscriber for some other consideration, the issue has been regarded as an issue for consideration other than cash.

Calls. The "amount uncalled at the end of the period on current issues" is the amount outstanding at the end of the year or quarter on share issues commenced during the year or quarter to which the statistics relate. Calls on previous issues paid during the year or quarter is the money received on issues commenced during an earlier year or quarter. The quarterly series for the "amount uncalled at the end of the period on current issues" and "calls on previous issues paid during the quarter" include some amounts which were uncalled at the end of the quarter in which the issue was commenced, but which were called up in a later quarter of the same year. These amounts are excluded from the annual series and accordingly the annual figures for any year are normally less than the sum of the quarterly totals for that year.

Total cash received by companies during the period. This is obtained by deducting from the amount of cash issues commenced during the period the amount uncalled at the end of the period and adding the amount of calls on previous issues paid during the period.

Shares. This includes all forms of equity capital (ordinary shares, deferred shares, stock units, etc.) and preference shares.

Debentures, notes, deposits and secured loans. For listed companies, debentures, registered notes and similar securities issued and deposits accepted are included if they are unsecured or secured by a charge over the entire assets of the company. Debentures and other loans secured by a charge over part only of the assets of the company, bank overdrafts, trade credit and other temporary advances are not included. In addition, deposits accepted by banks, insurance companies, pastoral companies and building societies or loans to authorised dealers in the short-term money market are not included. For unlisted companies, the statistics shown cover only loans secured by a charge over the entire assets of the company.

Industry groups. For listed and unlisted companies, the classification of new money raised by share capital and debentures, registered notes and deposits is based on broad industry groups, on the basis of the predominant activity of the reporting organisation, which are derived from the Population Census Classification of Industries (revised 1966). For the purpose of determining the "major activity" of holding companies which have raised new money, the holding company and its subsidiaries are considered as one organisation.

6. As mentioned in paragraph 3, companies incorporated overseas, whether listed on Australian Stock Exchanges or not, are excluded from the statistics of share issues. However, a summary, based on available published information of share issues by overseas companies whose shares are listed on Australian Stock Exchanges, is given in Table 12.

7. In this bulletin, the figures have been rounded to the nearest hundred thousand Australian dollars ($). Any discrepancies between totals and sums of components in tables are due to rounding.

NOTE. The above table includes share subscriptions by overseas investors to issues in Australia. Share subscriptions by overseas resident individuals or companies holding less than five per cent of the ordinary shares of the issuing company are included in new money. All other subscriptions by overseas investors are not included in new money. Where an issue is made at the same time on Australian and overseas markets that part of the issue which is taken up through overseas brokers has been excluded. Approximate estimates have been made of the total amount of overseas subscriptions included in the third column of the table. The estimates, shown in millions of Australian dollars, are: 1967-68, 29.0; 1968-69, 72.2; 1969-70, 99.6; 1970-71, 179.4; 1971-72, 85.7.

(a) Up to the June quarter 1970 issues of nominal value $2,000 or less, for which returns are not collected. The total nominal value of such issues has been treated as new money. As from the September quarter 1970 issues of nominal value $200 or less are excluded from the scope of the statistics and returns are not being collected for issues of nominal value between $201 and $10,000. In the year ended 30 June 1972, there were 8,907 issues of nominal value between $201 and $10,000 amounting to $7.1 million. This amount has been allocated between the components of 'total amount of issues commenced' and 'cash raised during period.' New money raised by unlisted companies, through issues of shares to life insurance companies and superannuation funds comprises $9.7 million of the total new money of $63.2 million raised in the year ended 30 June 1972. For changes in the definition of new money as from the September 1970 quarter, see para. 5, page 2 of the explanatory notes.

NOTE: Share subscriptions to Australian companies by overseas investors are included, but it has not been possible to calculate the amount of new money raised from such sources. Approximate estimates of the total amount of overseas subscriptions included in the third column of Table 8 (shown in millions of Australian dollars) are: 1967-68, 79.0; 1968-69, 251.2; 1969-70, 127.8; 1970-71, 189.6; 1971-72, 173.7. Most of this amount was subscribed by associated overseas companies of the issuing companies in Australia. Since subscriptions by associated companies are treated as amounts not involving new money, overseas subscriptions would not account for any significant proportion of new money raised through issues of shares by unlisted companies.

(a) For listed companies net borrowings from the investing public by way of debentures, registered notes and similar securities are included in new money if unsecured or if secured by a charge over the entire assets of the company. For unlisted companies only loans secured by a charge over the entire assets of the company are included. (See explanatory notes, para. 5, pages 2 and 3). Companies are classified to industry groups on the basis of the major activity of the company (see explanatory notes, para. 5, page 3). In accordance with the Population Census Classification of Industries which is used for these statistics, companies whose predominant activity is smelting, refining, etc. of metals are not classified to mining but to the manufacturing industry group.

TABLE 12. - SHARE ISSUES BY OVERSEAS COMPANIES WHICH ARE LISTED ON AUSTRALIAN STOCK EXCHANGES

NOTE. Other tables herein do not include share issues made by overseas companies (i.e. companies which are incorporated outside Australia and the Australian Territories) whose shares are listed on the Australian stock exchanges. A summary of the approximate amounts involved in these issues based on available published information is shown in Table 12. The columns in the table are comparable with the first five columns of Table 3. The greater part of the proceeds of these issues has been raised outside Australia.
