MAIN FEATURES

The All groups index increased by 2.4% in December Quarter 1982.

Price increases were recorded for a very large number of commodities during the quarter, while a much smaller number recorded decreased prices. The most significant increases were for crude petroleum, other refined petroleum products, trucks, buses and other motor vehicles, excavating, levelling, extracting machinery, etc, printed matter and passenger motor cars.

The All groups index increased by 11.2% between December Quarter 1981 and December Quarter 1982; prices of capital goods increased by 11.1%; intermediate goods by 10.8%; and consumption goods by 12.1% during this period.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Introduction

This publication introduces an Import Price Index produced by the ABS on reference base 1981-82=100.0. The index has been compiled for each quarter from September 1981. Annual index numbers are the simple average of the quarterly index numbers.

2. The index is a fixed weights index and is weighted using the pattern of Australian imports during the three years 1978-79, 1979-80 and 1980-81.

3. An import price index has previously been published by the Reserve Bank of Australia on reference base 1966-67=100. A technical note showing a method of linking the 'All groups' index in this publication to the 'All items' index previously published by the Reserve Bank is available from the ABS on request.

Scope of the index

4. The Import Price Index measures changes in prices of imports of merchandise into Australia. The index numbers for each quarter relate to prices of imports landed in Australia during the quarter.

Items and weights

5. The index covers either directly or indirectly, about 98 per cent of imports of merchandise in 1980-81. The index items, i.e. commodities whose prices are directly represented in the index, constituted 84 per cent of the total value of imports of merchandise into Australia in 1980-81. Prices of commodities constituting a further 14 per cent of merchandise imports in 1980-81 are assumed to move in a similar manner to those of the directly represented commodities. Relevant directly represented commodities therefore carry appropriately increased weights in respect of indirectly represented commodities. The weights were allocated in accordance with the average value of imports of the relevant commodities (expressed in 1981-82 prices) over the 3 years ended June 1981.

6. For practical reasons, imports accounting for approximately 2 per cent of the total value of imports of merchandise in 1980-81 are neither included directly in the index nor is their value represented by the weight of other items. These exclusions relate to groups with insignificant contributions to total merchandise trade, which in descending order of their significance in 1980-81 are: Special transactions and commodities not classified according to kind (AICC Group 931); Works of art, collectors' pieces and antiques (AICC Group 896); Ships of various types for temporary operation in Australian waters (part of AICC Group 793); Crude animal and vegetable materials n.e.s. (AICC Division 29); Metalliferous ores and scrap (AICC Division 28); and Live animals chiefly for food (AICC Division 00).

Classifications used

7. The index items have been combined according to three different classifications and within those classifications index numbers are presented for broad groups. Table 1 presents index numbers for groups defined in terms of the Sections (1 digit) and Divisions (2 digit) of the Australian Import Commodity Classification (AICC) (1204.0) (based on the Standard International Trade Classification, Revision 2); the corresponding percentage contributions for items and groups are shown in Table A1 in the Appendix to this publication. Table 2 presents index numbers for groups on an industry of origin basis defined in terms of Divisions (1 digit) and Subdivisions (2 digit) of the 1978 edition of the Australian Standard Industrial Classification (ASIC); the corresponding percentage contributions for items and groups are shown in Table A2 in the Appendix to this publication. The 'industry of origin' is the industry in which, in accordance with the classification rules of the Australian Standard Industrial Classification, the imported commodity would be primarily produced overseas. Table 3 presents index numbers for groups based on the 1976 edition of the United Nations Classification by Broad Economic Categories (BEC); the corresponding percentage contributions for items and groups are shown in Table A3 in the Appendix to this publication.

8. Table 3 also contains index numbers for BEC categories rearranged to form the broader end use classes: Capital goods, Intermediate goods and Consumption goods. Each BEC category has been allocated wholly to one of these end use classes except for category 321, Motor Spirit, which has been allocated in part to Intermediate goods and in part to Consumption goods.

Prices

9. Prices of individual shipments are obtained from major importers of the selected items and relate to the quarter in which the goods arrive in Australia. Imports are priced on a free on board (f.o.b.) country of origin basis. Freight and insurance charges involved in shipping goods from foreign to Australian ports are therefore excluded from the prices used in the index as are Australian import duties. The prices used in the index are the weighted average of all shipments reported by the selected respondent importer of the specified goods imported during the quarter.

10. All prices used in the index are expressed in Australian currency. As a result, changes in the relative values of the Australian dollar and overseas currencies can have a direct impact on price movements of imports purchased in currencies other than Australian dollars. Prices reported in a foreign currency are converted to Australian dollars using the exchange rate prevailing at the time of departure from the foreign port. Where imports are purchased at prices expressed in terms of a foreign currency and forward exchange cover is used, the prices used in the index EXCLUDE forward exchange cover.

11. The price series used relate to specific standards, grades, types, etc. of each item with the aim of incorporating in the index, price changes for imports of representative goods of constant quality. In order to lessen the impact of price variation attributable solely to changes, over time, in the country of origin of imported goods, prices are obtained in respect of the predominant countries of origin for each of the specified goods priced. Prices are combined using fixed weights between countries of origin but these weights are reviewed periodically and revised where necessary.

Further development of the index

12. Throughout 1983 development work will be directed towards collecting a greater range of information to permit the number of published index series to be increased. Additional information collected during the course of this development may lead to some revisions to the existing published aggregates. Work is also proceeding on the development of index series on a cost, including insurance and freight (c.i.f.) basis which will be published in addition to the f.o.b. index series included in this publication.

Percentage changes

13. Table 4 shows percentage changes for the 'All groups' index and for AICC Sections, ASIC Divisions, and the broad end use classes. The following example illustrates the method of calculating percentage changes.

All groups

December Quarter 1982	109.0 (see Table 1)
less September Quarter 1982	106.4 (see Table 1)
Change in index points	+ 2.6

$$\text{Percentage change} = \frac{+2.6}{106.4} \times 100 = 2.4\%$$
