EXPLANATORY NOTES

Introduction

ADDS presents in electronic format the data obtained from the Agricultural Census conducted at 31 March each year. The information includes details of area and production of crops; numbers of fruit trees; some varietal information; livestock numbers, other information about livestock, including shearing and wool production; artificial fertiliser usage; and number of establishments reporting each item.

Coverage

ADDS is available for each year separately from 1976-77 to 1987-88. The scope of the Agricultural Census from 1986-87 includes agricultural producers with estimated value of operations in excess of $20,000 per annum. For years prior to 1986-87 information was collected from agricultural producers with operations in excess of $2,500 per annum.

Output format

ADDS is available on magnetic tape, floppy disk, microfiche and CD-ROM. The magnetic tape and floppy disk packages include data in commodity by area format and the microfiche package can be provided in either commodity by area or area by commodity format. The CD-ROM package now includes 3 years data in commodity by area format.

Geographical areas covered by ADDS

ADDS provides data down to Local Government area, with aggregates to Statistical Subdivisions, Statistical Divisions and State totals.

Users Manual

Users of the service (other than CD-ROM) require a manual which includes an index to all data items contained on ADDS and all the areas throughout Australia for which data are available. In the case of the CD-ROM, the manual is incorporated on the disk.

How to obtain your ADDS package

An order form and conditions of sale for the purchase of ADDS are attached. Please indicate your requirements and mail the form and your cheque, money order or credit card authority for the amount indicated for the package you require.

Technical enquiries about the ADDS package should be directed to Terry Turner on (062) 526684. This includes inquiries about requirements for use of CD-ROM.
