ONCAMPUS

COVID-19 community information forums

On 12 March, ANU experts will provide information about COVID-19, address some common myths and talk about things we can do to prevent the spread.

» I'd like to register to attend

Listen to International Women's Day panel discussion

Couldn't make it to the 2020 International Women's Day panel in person? Here's an audio recording of the discussion which focused on climate change.

» Take me to the audio replay

Have a say in the academic direction of ANU

Academic Board is tasked with ensuring ANU maintains the highest standards in teaching, scholarship and research. Join the Board to make a substantial contribution to the academic governance at ANU.

» Check out this page for more details and eligibility criteria

University House to hold a cellar sale

University House will be selling the wine from its cellar, because the House will be closed for repairs following the January hailstorm. The sale will be on Friday 13 March from 12.30-6.30pm. Please note, sales are limited to ANU staff and students over the age of 18 years.

» I'd like to know more

Telling the ANU story

ANU Story Project Team is running a number of engagement sessions exploring the proposed narrative and storytelling aspects of the ANU Story. The sessions will be held from 3-20 March and you'll have the opportunity to provide your feedback to the Project Team.

» I'd like to know more

Studying the sounds of language

She's been recognised for her innovative teaching style at the Australian Awards for University Teaching. Find out exactly how Dr Solène Inceoglu teaches and how this method feeds back into her teaching.

» Read more about Solène's work

ANU Sexual Misconduct Disclosure Form now live

Do you want to disclose sexual misconduct that you've experienced or witnessed? Just go to the ANU Respectful Relationships Unit web page to make a disclosure, which allows the Respectful Relationships Unit to give you information on where to go for help, care and support. We can also provide information about reporting options.

» Find out more

In other news

The Canberra Mentor Walks celebrated its first birthday recently. It's been such a success that the number of walks has been increased to keep up with demand.

The January hail damaged scores of our Acton campus building and remediation work is continuing. Here is the latest on these works.

Did you know our Vice-Chancellor is a winemaker? Join him, Professors Sharon Bell, Kiaran Kirk and other local winemakers for a panel discussion on what fascinates them about wine and their advice on how to pick the right bottle. After the panel, you can have a snack and taste and buy wine.

What does $150 buy you, when you're setting up a bedroom? A recent competition involving five different teams of students looked at this very issue. You'll be amazed at what they produced with the limited budget they were given.

ANU has launched a new Major in Demography for 2020, equipping students to navigate tomorrow's changing society.

Is your bike chain rusty and in need of some love? Last Wednesday the student-run PARSA Cycles bicycle shop opened in Joplin Lane.

Calling all supporters of the ANU School of Art & Design: are you keen to hear what one of our alumni, Melbourne-based artist Miriam Kelly, has to say about the School's impact on her career? She'll be delivering a lecture on Saturday 21 March as part of the 2020 ANU Alumni Weekend.

ANU Council News - Meeting: 13 February 2020

Find us on

For all the latest news, follow our 'ANU On Campus' page on facebook or head to anu.edu.au/news.
Want to contribute to OnCampus? Please send story submissions to on.campus@anu.edu.au or phone Internal Communications on 02 6125 0259.

The Australian National University, Canberra | CRICOS Provider : 00120C | ABN : 52 234 063 906 | Privacy Policy